Judge Barnard Answers the Charge in Person.

Attempt of His Counsel to Postpone the Trial.

The Court to Meet at Saratoga, July 17.

Judge Comstock and Josiah M. Varcett to be State Counsel.

Proceedings Against Judge McCunn Necessarily Deferred for the Present.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, May 22.—The High Court of Impeachment, for the trial of Judge BARNARD, met in the Senate Chamber at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Lieut.-Gov. BEACH presiding, and six out of the seven Judges of the Court of Appeals with twenty-seven out of the thirty-two Senators present. The Chamber was crowded with spectators, among whom were several ladies. Immediately after the call of the roll, Judge BARNARD entered the Chamber, accompanied by his counsel, WM. A. BEACH, JOHN H. REYNOLDS, RUFUS F. ANDREWS and W. O. BARTLETT, and took a seat in the rear of the room facing the President. The Senators occupied their usual seats, and the Judges of the Court of Appeals were furnished with chairs in front, near the Clerk's desk. Seven out of the nine managers of the impeachment were present, viz.: Messrs. ALVORD, PRINCE, LINCOLN, NILES, VEDDER, HUSTED and HAYES. Messrs. HILL and JACOBS, the two Democratic members, were absent, owing, as they informed their associates by letter, to pressing engagements elsewhere. Mr. BEACH having announced that his client, BARNARD, was present both in person and by counsel, a discussion arose as to whether he had been properly served with the articles of impeachment, which was decided in the affirmative. Then followed a protracted debate on the rules to be adopted by the Court; on the number of officers to be employed; on the question of excusing from service two of the Judges; on the time and place of holding the Court. The upshot of it all was that the Court decided to sit at Saratoga, and to commence its sessions at 10 A. M. of the 17th of July. This decision was arrived at in secret session, the chamber having been cleared of spectators, in order that the public might not know who were or were not in favor of putting the State to the unnecessary expense of trying the impeachment at a fashionable watering-place, 200 miles distant from all the witnesses to be summoned on the trial. The vote is reported to have stood 23 for holding the Court at Saratoga, 6 for Albany, and 4 for New-York City. All the Judges voted to go to Saratoga. It was currently reported here this morning that Judge BARNARD would resign, and thus put an end to further proceedings, and it is even now asserted that he will probably do so before the time fixed for the Court to convene, but there was nothing to indicate such a purpose in the proceedings here today. On the contrary, his counsel evinced a determination to fight the impeachment of their client inch by inch, and to take advantage of every point, technical or otherwise, to embarrass the prosecution. In the course of the discussion, Mr. BEACH intimated, or rather declared openly, that he should enter a plea of abatement of the entire body of the articles of impeachment at the outset, on the ground that they were not properly adopted by the Assembly. He said he should also demur to a portion of the article and object to the sufficiency of others, and hinted that there would be legal questions raised which would occupy much of the attention of the Court, in order that the managers might be prepared to answer his various pleas. The Court voted that he should be required to furnish each Manager with a copy of them twenty days before the sitting of the Court.

A private meeting of the Managers was held at the Delevan House before the Court convened this afternoon, at which R. M. RICHARDSON was elected clerk of the Board, and M. L. HUNGERFORD messenger. The question of employing counsel to assist the Managers was then discussed, and Ex-Judge COMSTOCK, of the Court of Appeals, was unanimously elected senior counsel. Mr. HUSTED moved that Messrs. TILDEN, STRAHAN and TOBEY be elected associate counsel, which was lost by 5 to 2, ALVORD and HUSTED only voting in the affirmative. A motion to employ JOSIAH M. VANCOTT as associate counsel with Judge COMSTOCK was finally adopted without opposition. The Board then passed a resolution inviting the Bar Association of New-York to aid the Managers in conducting the trial by counsel, or otherwise, as they may desire. The Senate will meet to-morrow morning to hear argument on the demurrer in the case of Judge PRINDLE, of Chenango County, who is charged with malfeasance. The case of Judge McCUNN was also expected to be heard to-morrow, but the Sergeant at Arms, who was sent to serve the summons for him to appear and make his defense, reports that he is sick and unable to attend at present. Dispatch to the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 22.—At 4 P. M. Lieut.-Gov. BEACH called the Court of Impeachment to order, and directed the Clerk to call the roll, when the following Judges answered to their names: Church, Allen, Peckham, Grover, Folger, Rappalye. The following Senators also answered to their names: Allen, Baker, Benedict, Bowen, Chatfield, Cock, Dickenson, Graham, Harrower, Johnson, Lewis, Lord, Lowery, Madden, Murphy, Palmer, Perry, Robertson, Tiemann, Wagner, Weismann, Winslow, D. P. Wood, and J. Wood. The minutes of the last meeting of the Court were then read. Mr. WM. A. BEACH rose and stated that the defendant, Judge BARNARD, was present in person and by counsel to reply. He stated that the defendant was not prepared today with a special plea, nor with a general plea. He stated that the articles had not been officially served. He therefore asked that time be given to prepare special and general pleas.

Mr. NILES, of the Managers, asked how much time would be asked.

Mr. BEACH said he supposed the usual time of twenty days.

Mr. REYNOLDS asked what papers had been served and certified to as being served.

The President replied that it was the articles of impeachment.

Mr. REYNOLDS then asked how these articles were authenticated?

The President said the only reply that he could give was that these articles were sent to the Senate as adopted by the House.

Mr. ALVORD stated that these articles had been adopted by the House, were sent to the Senate and became a part of the record of the Senate, and when they became a part of the record of the Senate they were thus duly authenticated.

Mr. NILES protested against those questions being raised at this time. The proper time would be when the reply was put in.

Mr. BEACH did not concur with the Managers, and insisted that this question was at this time properly raised. The Court was not yet duly organized; the members were not yet sworn. The defendant claimed that, before proceedings could go on, some proper paper—a duly certified copy of the articles—should be served upon him before he should be called upon to answer. He insisted that no such service had been made.

Mr. PRINCE, of the Managers, followed, stating the proceedings, and said that if counsel claimed that the articles had not been served, he would suggest that they now be served.

Mr. BEACH stated that a printed paper had been served on defendant, with one of the articles erased, and no certificate attached authenticating it as the articles of impeachment. The revised statutes prescribed the mode of proceeding. The Court must be sworn in.

Chief-Justice CHURCH said he thought it easy enough to settle these preliminaries. It was not required that the Court shall be sworn in before the time and place of the Court are fixed. Then the Court will meet and proceed in regular manner. He moved that the articles be now served, and that the defendant be given time to make his plea.

Judge ALLEN rose to say that he had doubts as to the propriety of his sitting in the Court, for the reason of his connection as counsel with the proceedings embraced in two of the articles. He would ask to be excused.

Judge REYNOLDS said, as far as the accused was concerned, he would not ask any action in the matter, either one way or the other.

Mr. ALVORD, on the part of the Managers, said they would not ask that Judge ALLEN remain in the Court, but they would like to have him near the Court and tender his advice in the matters with which he has had no connection.

Judge PECKHAM said he found himself connected also in the way of issuing orders, and he thought he too should be excused.

Judge GROVER said, under the circumstances of Judge ALLEN having been counsel, he would move that he be excused, but in the case of Judge PECKHAM, he did not see any good reason for excusing him. He withdrew his motion to excuse Judge ALLEN for the present, at the request of Senator D. P. WOOD, who stated that the Committee on Rules were ready to report, and asked that the report be received, which was agreed to, and the report was read at length.

Some discussion was had as to the number of officers of the Court, and the report was then adopted.

The President then directed the accused to be called.

The Clerk called GEORGE G. BARNARD, and his counsel, WM. A. BEACH, responded that he was here in person and by counsel.

The President then stated that the accused would be assigned a place within the bar of the Court.

The pending question on Judge GROVER's motion to excuse Judge ALLEN was then announced. Judge PECKHAM said he understood these charges were entirely independent and separate, and, therefore, though his brother Judge may be connected with some of the charges, he was not with the whole. Therefore, he could not see any reason for his being excused.

Senator MURPHY said he could not see any good reason for excusing Judge ALLEN. He was not disqualified at all, and if there was any objection to his serving, it should come from the respondent, who, as he understood, made no such objection.

Senator BENEDICT took a similar view.

Mr. W. A. BARTLETT, counsel for Judge BARNARD, said the respondent made but one request. He comes here and bares his breast—if there is a vulnerable point, let it be found. He made but one request, and that was, that he have a fair and impartial trial. He asks only that which every man, through God Almighty, asks—fairness and justice. He asked if, when he came here upon a momentous trial, a trial which was to determine whether he is to hold office hereafter or not, a question was to be raised and put to him whether certain Judges shall sit on the Bench? He had the highest respect for Judge ALLEN. As for Judge PECKHAM, he would say that in the course of the trial it might be necessary to call upon him to take the witness stand.

Manager NILES thought counsel misconceived the question. He did not understand that Judge ALLEN had preconceived opinions such as disqualified him from acting as a Judge in this case.

Mr. BEACH said his client had a reluctance to be tried by any member of the Court who has had any connection whatever with the cases referred to in the charges. He thought it would be indecorous and unjust to the people for such gentlemen to participate in this trial. He said: Some of these Judges had been in judicial antagonism to the respondent, and it was utterly impossible for them to take part in these proceedings without being controlled by preconceived opinions. He had not one word to say against these Judges. It would be improper for him to say anything of the kind. He did not agree in opinion with Judge PECKHAM. These charges are a unit. They were not separate and distinct and independent. One affects the other. Rules have been adopted that every member of the Court shall rise in his place and say guilty or not guilty on each and every one of these charges. But, is this a matter in which Judges should ask to be excused? They are not yet members of the Court; they have not yet been sworn in. What compels them to come in here and serve in this Court? He thought that if these gentlemen had doubts as to their competency, all they had to do was to withdraw and take no part in the proceedings of the Court. There would be enough Judges left to constitute the Court.

Manager NILES in reply referred to the fact that the Court could be rendered nugatory or invalid, were these Judges to withdraw, by the death or sickness of one or two others. But as to the members of this Court, he understood that these Judges are a part of the Court now.

Manager PRINCE stated precedents in which he showed that members of the Court would be called upon to vote on each article separately.

On motion of Senator PALMER, the Court went into executive session for consultation.

On the reopening of the doors the President announced that the Court refused to excuse Judges ALLEN and PECKHAM.

Mr. BEACH, of counsel for respondent, then submitted a general plea, making a denial in detail to the charges, and declaring generally that he was not guilty.

Manager ALVORD took exception to the answer, saying that though he was not a practicing lawyer, yet he did not understand that anything more was expected of the respondent than a reply of guilty or not guilty.

Mr. BEACH answered that the plea was in the usual form.

Manager NILES also thought the plea was not in proper form.

Manager ALVORD then, in reply to Judge BARNARD's plea, announced that the Managers, regarding the plea of respondent as only a general plea, reiterated their charges, and would proceed to make good the said charges.

Manager ALVORD said that, on consultation of the Managers with respondent's counsel, they had agreed to adjourn, if it met the views of the Court, till the 17th of July next, and that the Court be held at Saratoga.

Manager HUSTED dissented from that part of the report fixing upon Saratoga as the place.

That part of the motion to adjourn till 17th July was carried. On motion of Senator D. P. WOOD the Court again went into executive session for consultation as to the place for holding the Court. On reopening the doors it was announced that Saratoga had been selected as the place for holding the Court. Two sessions a day was decided on, the Court meeting at 10 A. M. and 4 P. M.

Senator MURPHY said, as he understood it, the respondent, in addition to the general plea he has now put in, is at liberty to put in a special plea. He therefore moved that the respondent shall serve a notice on the Managers of such special plea before the 17th of July.

Judge BEACH said practice did not require the respondent to give notice of any motion.

Senator MURPHY said what he wanted to avoid was the necessity for adjournment from time to time, owing to the Managers being unprepared to meet these pleas.

Mr. BEACH thought this motion, if adopted, would lead the Court into difficulty. He said that at the proper time they would move to quash various of the articles, but he did not think there would be any necessity for adjournment as suggested.

Senator MURPHY's motion was adopted. The Court then adjourned until July 17, at 10 A. M., to meet at Saratoga Springs.

After the adjournment of the Barnard Impeachment Court today, the Senate was called to order to take action in the case of Judge PRINDLE. The journal was read, when it was found that the case was ordered to be taken up immediately after the adjournment of the Court of Impeachment.

Senator MURPHY inquired if there was any return in the case of Judge McCUNN.

Senator J. WOOD stated that an officer went to the house of Judge McCUNN and found him too sick to be seen, and it is not known whether the papers were served on him or not.

The Senate then adjourned until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

THE DORIAN MURDER.

An Arrest Made a Year After the Crime—The Police Refusing Information.

About a year ago, CHARLES G. DORIAN, a respectable young man, was brutally murdered in Jones' Wood, by some young ruffian unknown to the Police. The facts in the case, few and simple, were that three young roughs were insulting a young lady attending to a cake-stand at the Scottish Festival games in Jones' Wood. DORIAN, who was standing by, interfered, to save the lady from further insult, when one of the roughs stabbed him to the heart. The affair created great excitement at the time, and numerous arrests were made by the Nineteenth Precinct Police, none of the persons arrested being held, however, no proof having been adduced against them. Yesterday morning Capt. GUNNER, of the Nineteenth Precinct, arrested a young man whom he said he has good grounds to believe to be DORIAN's murderer. The name of this prisoner, or any facts connected with his arrest, or throwing any light on the grounds for his apprehension, were denied a TIMES reporter by the Nineteenth Precinct Police last night.

Movements in Illinois, New-Jersey and Arkansas.

The Illinois Republicans Enthusiastic—The New-Jersey Convention Today—The Arkansas Bolters on the Tammany Candidate.

ILLINOIS.

Old Republicans Aroused by the Cincinnati Movement—Meeting of the State Convention at Springfield.

Special Dispatch to the NewYork Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 22.—The State Republican Convention met in this city today. It was the largest and most enthusiastic political assemblage that has convened in this State for many years. The unanimity of feeling and determination of purpose of all the delegates are unparalleled since the dark days of the war, when every true man was up in arms and ready to show his colors. The Cincinnati movement has brought out many old Republicans who have been resting quietly for many years, the apparent danger to the party infusing new life in them. When the Convention was called to order, Hon. JAMES ROOT was chosen temporary Chairman, and upon taking the chair made an eloquent and telling speech. After transacting some other business, the Convention took a recess until 2 o'clock.

After reassembling, a permanent organization was made by electing Hon. STEPHEN LOGAN President. Judge LOGAN was for many years the law-partner of LINCOLN, and has recently taken no part in politics, but the shape which political matters has assumed brought the old gentleman from his retirement. The speech which he made upon taking the chair equaled the power and enthusiasm of his younger days.

Gen. RICHARD J. OGLESBY was nominated for Governor by acclamation. Gen. JOHN BEVERIDGE was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor by acclamation, before the close of the first ballot, and Gen. CHARLES LIPPINCOTT was nominated for Auditor of Public Accounts by acclamation. Afterward, GEORGE W. HARLOW was nominated for Secretary of State, EDWARD RUTZ for State Treasurer, and JAMES K. EDSALL for Attorney-General.

The following gentlemen were chosen as electors of President and Vice-President: Chauncey T. Bowen, L. Bond, Mahlon D. Ogden, Richard Divine, James Shaw, Norman H. Ryan, Irus Coy, Joseph J. Cassell, J. W. Gale, W. D. Henderson, Moses M. Borie, M. H. Chamberlain, M. B. Thompson, Hugh Fullerton, J. W. Wilken, J. P. Van Dorsten, John Yeager, John Dougherty, William H. Robinson, Henry Greenebaum, David T. Linegar.

The following gentleman were chosen as delegates to the Philadelphia Convention: J. Young Scammon, Louis Ellsworth, Herman Raster, James L. Campbell, Clark W. Upton, William Vocke, J. H. Mayburn, A. B. Corn, John C. Smith, E. B. Warmer, Andrew Crawford, J. W. Templeton, Lyman B. Ray, Warren M. Swatland, Warren H. Rickex, U. S. Stevens, Enoch Emory, Edwin M. Butler, John McKinney, Henry Tubbs, George W. Burns, David Pierson, Shelby M. Cullom, John Moses, Joseph R. Masser, James Knight, William C. Galhard, Thomas Snell, Thomas A. Apperson, James Steele, Henry C. Goodnow, J. F. Alexander, Russell Hinckley, A. W. Metcalf, George Waters, Thomas H. Burges, D. W. Lusk, Israel W. Howell, E. A. Stores, Leonard F. Ross, Jasper Partridge, Stephen T. Logan. The resolutions adopted by the Convention have the ring of true metal, they indorse the action of the Republican Party in the past, and pledge support to the party in the future, and instruct the delegates to the Philadelphia Convention to vote for GRANT. This evening Gov. OGLESBY addressed the Convention. His speech was one of the most soul-inspiring efforts of his life. The prairies of Illinois will be eulogized with enthusiasm when glorious old Dick gets started. Last night there was a rousing Republican meeting at Representatives Hall in the State House, which was addressed by Hon. E. A. STORES, of Chicago. He reviewed in detail the record of HORACE GREELEY, and handled him without gloves. It was the most perfect case of vivisection on record since the times of the schools of Alexandria.

The following is a synopsis of the resolutions adopted:

The first declares that the past acts of the Republican Party are a better guarantee than the mere resolutions of a new party, and recounts the achievements of the Republican Party in the destruction of slavery, the introduction of civil service reform, the adoption of the eight-hour system of labor in the public service, the maintenance of the policy fully protecting naturalized citizens from the claims of foreign allegiance, the honesty and justice to both settlers and Indians, its Indian policy, the suppression of the rebellion and the measurable restoration of peace through the magnanimous treatment of rebels.

The second extols the financial policy of the Administration, which has reduced both the national debt and the national taxes, placed the credit of the nation in the best condition, and furnished the people with good national currency.

The third declares that no other party can safely be trusted with the National Government.

The fourth declares as a fundamental principle of the Republican Party the right and duty of its supporters to criticise National, State, or Municipal Governments, and asserts that no party ever existed in the country, that can boast so much independence of thought.

The fifth declares that all sovereignty emanates from the people, a portion of which they have delegated to the National Government, with a larger portion to State Governments, reserving to themselves the residue in bills of rights and restrictions against the encroachment of National, State and Municipal Governments; and that no Republican wishes to deprive the nation, States, counties, cities, towns or individuals of any of their legitimate constitutional rights, and all pretenses that the Republican Party desires or intends to establish a consolidated Government of unlimited powers are gratuitous slanders.

The sixth declares that the Republican Party is a party of progress and human rights and duties. We are for the equality of all before the law and the preservation of constitutional rights, and we disapprove of all unconstitutional legislation for the cure of any disorders of society, whether irreligion, intemperance or any evil. We oppose the surrender of individual freedom to those who ask that their prejudices, practice or creed shall be the law of the land. We demand equal and just rights and duties for every human being, and the largest liberty consistent with the public good and the preservation of social order.

The seventh states that the necessities of the Government require so large a tariff upon importations that the question of free-trade is not one now before the American people. The only question left, is, how to adjust the tariff so that it will best promote the labor, industry and general welfare of the country, without being oppressive to any of the interests of society, and we know of no better way to dispose of these subjects than that adopted by the Republican Party in Congress, to learn wisdom from experience, reduce taxation as fast as possible, and remove unnecessary burdens from the necessities of life.

The eighth declares that in adjusting the system of taxation care should be taken so to arrange the tax as to press least upon the growing interests of the country, cheapen the necessaries of life and give to labor the fairest promise of permanent reward.

The ninth indorses the recommendation of President GRANT for national legislation for the protection of immigrants.

The tenth expresses the gratitude of the nation to its soldiers and sailors.

The eleventh is as follows:

Resolved, That the people of the United States owe to U. S. GRANT a great debt of gratitude for his patriotic devotion to the interests of the people in war and in peace; that we have unabated confidence in his integrity, patriotism, ability, prudence and good judgment, and hereby instruct our delegates to the Philadelphia Convention to vote for and use all honorable means to secure his nomination as the Republican candidate for President of the United States.

LEWISTON, Me., May 23.—The Second District Republican Convention today renominated WILLIAM P. FRYE for Congress by acclamation. F. E. SHAW, of the Oxford Democrat, and A. H. S. DAVIS, of the Farmington Chronicle, were elected delegates to the Philadelphia Convention. JOHN H. KIMBALL, of Bath, was nominated for elector. Resolutions favoring GRANT and COLFAX were unanimously adopted.

NEW-JERSEY.

Preparations for the Republican State Convention—The Feeling Strong in Favor of Grant and Colfax—Spirit of the Amendments to be Adopted.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., May 22, 1872.—To-morrow, at noon, the Republican State Convention, to appoint delegates to Philadelphia, meets in this city, and it promises to be an imposing demonstration of New-Jersey Republicanism. It is composed of 454 delegates, distributed among the twenty-one counties of the State, according to population. In this number are very few office-holders of any kind, and a large proportion are new men who have not heretofore taken an active part in politics. Many of the delegates have arrived here tonight, and they bring from all portions of the State the most cheering accounts of the condition of the Republican Party. The whole Greeley Party of the State, excepting of course the Democrats, will scarcely amount to a corporal's guard, and is so ridiculously small that it is not worth taking into the account in considering the political chances. In many large towns there is not a single Republican Greeleyite, and in others less than a dozen. The feeling in South Jersey is especially hostile to GREELEY, and the people are not only opposed to him, but are dropping the Tribune. The Republicans feel very confident that in any contingency Greeleyism will have very little weight in the campaign, and that they can give the electoral vote of the State to the Philadelphia nominees.

There is a very general feeling in favor of Gen. GRANT, which will find expression in the Convention to-morrow, and while there is an almost equally strong sentiment for Mr. COLFAX, it is quite probable that the example of New-York will be followed and no formal declarations made in regard to the Vice-Presidency. The resolutions will be substantially modeled upon those of New-York, but it is probable that there will be more decided expressions in favor of amnesty, and it is possible something may be said of the bill passed last night by the Senate, commonly known as the Force bill, as made necessary by the lawlessness of the Southern Kuklux. No names are yet mentioned in connection with the Philadelphia Convention, but it seems certain that no Federal office-holder shall be appointed a delegate to the National Convention, as there is great unanimity among the members who have arrived upon that point. The best men in the State will be sent to represent her at Philadelphia, and among them will be found representatives of the chief industrial pursuits, but very few professional politicians. None of these delegates have, however, yet been selected, nor has a President for the Convention yet been determined upon, although Gen. VAN BUREN, of Bergen County, is generally mentioned for the position, and will probably be selected. There will be but the one organization, and the Convention will probably conclude its work early in the afternoon.

Although called especially to select delegates to Philadelphia, the call includes any other business which might be brought up, and the Convention may also nominate an electoral ticket. New-Jersey does not elect any State officers this Fall, and there is a general feeling that it would be folly to call another convention merely to name the electors. It having been asserted that Gen. KILPATRICK, who is very popular in the State, has given in his adhesion to the Greeley candidacy, I am informed that there is no good foundation for the statement. Gen. KILPATRICK will not attend this Convention, nor is it probable that he will go to Philadelphia as a delegate, but there is no fear among his most intimate friends that he will be found in opposition to the party to which he has rendered such signal service, both on the battle-field and on the stump. His absence is regretted, but in his stead are many of the foremost men of the State, among whom are Gen. VICKERS, Hon. GEO. A. HALSEY, State Senators HAVENS and GIRARD, Judge QUACKENBUSH, and many others. Everybody is animated by a desire to do everything possible in aid of the great victory which they are certain awaits the Republicans in November next.

A meeting of the State Committee was held tonight, at which it was determined that the Convention should be called and vote by counties, in consequence of inequalities in representation, and that the question of nominating electors should be submitted to the Convention without any recommendation. No action was taken in reference to the Presidency of the Convention, while it is the desire of some of the more prominent leaders that nothing shall be said about the Vice-Presidency. I find the feeling for COLFAX so strong in all quarters of the State that it will not be strange if there is some expression in his favor, even if the delegates are not instructed for him. E. C.

ARKANSAS.

The Bolting Republican Convention—An Effort to be Made to Indorse Greeley and Brown—Want of Harmony on the Question.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 22.—The Arkansas bolting Republican Convention met here today, at the hall of the House of Representatives, and was called to order by Senator B. T. RICE. A temporary organization was then effected by calling CATTERSON, the suspended United States Marshal, to the chair.

After the appointment of the usual committees on resolutions, &c., the Convention adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow for further action.

Since Senator RICE's arrival here he has openly advocated the indorsement of GREELEY and BROWN and the Cincinnati platform, and that will undoubtedly be the programme to-morrow. In the caucus last night, a majority of the delegates stood with RICE on the question, though many of the delegates threaten to withdraw from the Convention if GRANT is not indorsed by it. The proceedings so far have been tolerably harmonious, though trouble may occur tomorrow, and the indorsement of the Cincinnati nominees will scarcely be unanimous.

A Little Letter from Gen. Hawley.

The Newark Advertiser publishes the extract from a letter from Gen. JOSEPH R. HAWLEY to a gentleman in that city, who thinks that though it was private, its publication will do no wrong to his friend:

> Thank you. Yes I do care for letters and the expression I get from them, and the Republican journals show me that there is something worth more than office—the esteem and respect of friends. I shall try to deserve the latter. The man who sets his heart upon office in this country is a fool. I never felt that I had much luck in that direction. But I love a good hearty fight, and as I "reckon" we shall have it this Fall, count me in. Sincerely yours,

CUBA.

Seizure of an English Schooner by a Spanish War Vessel.

HAVANA, May 22.—The Spanish gun-boat D'Estello captured the English schooner William Julius at Savana-la-Mar, and brought her to Nuevelas. The schooner was captured under suspicious circumstances, and detained for investigation. At the time of the Mary Lowell expedition, the same schooner brought a cargo of salt to Gibara, and cruised along the coast reconnoitering. The crew consists of Capt. WILSON and fifteen men.

WEATHER REPORT.

Events and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 23—1 A. M.—The lowest barometer is probably central over the northern portion of the Middle States. Cloudy weather and rain is now prevailing from Virginia northward and eastward; clear and partially cloudy weather thence southward and westward.

PROBABILITIES.

The lowest barometer will move north-eastwardly over the northern portion of New-England, followed by rising barometer. Northerly to westerly winds, clear and clearing weather, from the lakes to the Eastern Gulf and South and Middle Atlantic coasts, on Thursday, and will extend over New-England on Thursday afternoon and night. Dangerous winds are not anticipated.

YACHTING.

Brilliant Opening of the Season of 1872.

A Fine Day and Splendid Racing—The Meteor, Dart and Comet the Winners—Good Time Made.

The yachting season was fairly inaugurated yesterday in brilliant style by a spirited race from FRANK BATES' club-room at Bay Ridge. The day was all that could be desired, being clear and warm, with a splendid breeze from the south-south-east. The race was organized by Mr. FRANK BATES, and was open to all yachts thirty feet and under, belonging to recognized yacht clubs. The course laid down was one that enabled all the spectators to see the manœuvring of the boats, being from a stake-boat anchored off the Club-house to another off Bay Ridge Dock, thence to a third one off Long Dock to the home stake-boat, sailing over the course twice, making in all a triangular race of about fifteen miles.

The prizes for the first-class sloops carying jib and mainsail were, first, a handsome silver cup, given by the yacht Nettie B., to be awarded to the winning boat, with time allowance; the second was a handsomely-embroidered silk pennant, for the first boat in, without time allowance; and the third, a set of colors, for the second boat, with time allowance. In the second-class jib and mainsail sloops, the prizes were, for the first, a silk pennant, and the second, $15 in money, or its equivalent. In the cat-rigged boats, the prizes were the same as those for the second-class sloops.

The race was to have been started at 12½, but owing to some unaccountable delay that seems inseparable from affairs of this kind, preparations were not commenced until after 2 o'clock. The judges, Messrs. J. M. SAWYER, A. C. BUSH and Captain MOORE, exerted themselves to the utmost to get the boats off, but without avail, until 2:43, when the first gun, signal to get ready, was fired from the Nettie B., in which the judges and a few friends had taken up their quarters.

THE ENTRIES.

The yachts that entered for the race were all well-known fast-sailers and were as follows:

FIRST CLASS.

Mary C. Campbell—MURRAY CAMPBELL, owner; Harlem Yacht Club; length, 21 feet.
Emily P.—Capt. SMITH, owner; Jersey City Yacht Club; length, 21.6 feet.
Dart— ——, owner; Harlem Yacht Club; length, 19.10½ feet.
Meteor—ALLEN C. BUSH, owner; Brooklyn Yacht Club; length, 28.6 feet.

SECOND CLASS.

G. Topf—B. CARR, owner; Jersey City Yacht Club; length, 15.6 feet.
Mother Cary— ——, owner; Jersey City Yacht Club; length, 14 feet.

CAT-RIGGED.

Emma Porter—FRANK BATES, owner; ——; length, 20 feet.
Comet—S. KETCHUM, owner; Jersey City Yacht Club; length, 18 feet.
Brogan— ——, owner; Jersey City Yacht Club; length, 20 feet.
Defiance—BRINCKERHOFF, owner; Harlem Yacht Club; length, 24 feet.

The time allowance for all was two minutes to the foot.

THE START.

After the first gun to get ready, the yachts were all manned, ready to slip cable and hoist jibs on board the first-class, the others taking a flying start. Of the former class the Meteor held the leeward position, the Emily P. being to windward. As the gun was fired at 2¾, the jibs were hoisted as if by magic, the Dart being the first away, followed closely by the Meteor, which soon passed her and led the fleet. The smaller boats came round quickly, and were trimmed for their start in the following order:

	H.	M.	S.
Mother Cary	2	45	30
Topf	2	46	45
Comet	2	47	30
Emma Porter	2	47	45
Brogan	2	47	45
Defiance	2	48	..

On passing the judges' boat, the Emma Porter and Brogan nearly collided, which was only avoided by the Brogan hauling off, thus losing the advantage of an even start. Meanwhile, the Meteor had taken a decided lead. She passed the stake-boat four and a half minutes ahead of the Mary C. Campbell, the next in order, and increased that lead by three minutes before reaching the judges' boat. The Dart kept close up to the Mary Campbell, giving her a tight race for the lead, which, however, she was not able to wrest from her. Of the smaller boats, the Defiance and Comet made the best race, the latter sailing much closer to the wind returning, thus gaining a great advantage. On the return from the stake-boat, the wind, which had veered slightly, and was blowing off shore, became very "puffy," and several very narrow escapes from capsizing were experienced.

THE FIRST ROUND.

The first turn of the stake-boat, in which the judges were seated, was made as follows:

	H.	M.	S.
Meteor	3	28	30
Mary C. Campbell	3	36	15
Dart	3	37	30
Emily P.	3	40	..
Defiance	3	40	45
Comet	3	42	..
Emma Porter	3	42	30
Brogan	3	43	15
Topf	3	45	30
Mother Cary	3	52	45

The boats that distinguished themselves in turning the stake-boat, which they had to do beating to windward were the Meteor, which made the turn in beautiful style, as also did the Mary Campbell, but the craft that came up closest to the wind and in the best manner was the saucy little Comet, the victor of many races. After making the first turn the Emily P. withdrew from the race, seeing plainly there was no chance for her.

The second round offered no change in the position of the boats, excepting that the Meteor increased her lead on the Mary Campbell, and the Dart crept from both. A noticeable feature in the race was that on the first round the Meteor made in 43 minutes 30 seconds, and the second in 43 minutes 15 seconds. A difference of only 15 seconds in going over a course of upward of seven miles twice.

The home stake boat was reached in the following order:

	H.	M.	S.
Meteor	4	11	45
Mary C. Campbell	4	27	15
Dart	4	28	45
Defiance	4	36	30
Comet	4	38	30
Emma Porter	4	41	45
Brogan	4	43	30
Topf	4	50	45
Mother Cary	not timed.

The actual time of making the race by each yacht was:

	H.	M.	S.
Meteor	1	26	45
Mary C. Campbell	1	42	15
Dart	1	43	45
Defiance	1	48	30
Comet	1	51	..
Emma Porter	1	54	..
Brogan	1	55	45
Topf	2	04	..

By time allowance the Meteor defeated the Campbell by 30 seconds only, and was defeated by the Dart by 20 seconds. The Comet beat the Defiance on time allowance by 9 minutes 30 seconds and the Topf won by about 20 minutes. Thus the Dart wins the first-prize silver cup, the Meteor takes the pennant as first boat in, and also the second prize as second boat on time allowance. In the second class each takes a prize, the Topf winning the first. In cat-rigged class the Comet wins the first prize and the Defiance the second. It is seldom that a race more closely contested or more successfully carried out has been witnessed.

Exciting Debate on the War Contracts in the Assembly.

VERSAILLES, May 22.—In the Assembly, today, the debate on the interpellation of the Government with regard to the war contracts was continued. M. D'AUDIFFRET-PASQUIER replied with severity to M. ROUHER, and vindicated his own exposure of the corruptions under the Empire. He vigorously denounced NAPOLEON, and called on the Empire, in the language of AUGUSTUS, to restore to France her legions, her provinces, and her glory. The members of the Assembly and the crowds in the galleries were greatly excited, and repeatedly interrupted the speaker with passionate outbursts of applause. M. ROUHER followed with a speech of two hours' duration, which was listened to with impatience, and is pronounced unequal to the occasion. M. GAMBETTA then rose and made a violent and bitter attack on the Empire. The audience were remarkably quiet, and although deep interest was manifested, the speaker received little or no applause. With M. GAMBETTA's speech the debate closed, and the sitting was adjourned.

The Commission on Capitulations, in their report relative to the surrender of Strasburg, blame Gen. ULRICH on all points for the capitulation of the City. He is especially censured for securing for himself and officers exemption from the conditions imposed upon his enlisted men by the German commander to whom he surrendered.

ANNAPOLIS.

A Midshipman Severely Injured—Narrow Escape from Death—Bravery of His Rescuers.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 22.—While the cadets were practicing seamanship, this morning, on board the Dale, Midshipman FIDELO S. CARTER, of Illinois, fell from below the foretop-sail yard. He rolled over and over, down the rigging, and fell partially insensible into the water. Midshipman R. H. McLEAN, of New-York, and R. H. GALT, of Virginia, immediately jumped overboard after CARTER, and held him until a boat arrived. Mr. CARTER was severely bruised on the head, shoulders, back and lower limbs, but was not internally injured. He fell fifty feet, and had he struck the deck would in all probability have been killed. As it was he had a narrow escape. R.

WASHINGTON.

Apportionment of the Additional Representatives—The Omnibus Bill and the Treasury Architect—The Tariff and Tax Bill.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The Supplemental Apportionment bill increasing the number of members in the House to 292, and distributing the nine additional members provided for, so as to give one each to New-Hampshire, Vermont, New-York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama and Florida, was passed in concurrence by the Senate today with an amendment which leaves it to the States themselves to decide whether the member given by this bill shall be elected at large, or to form new districts. During the debate Mr. CONKLING alluded to some one who was the candidate of one wing of Mr. CASSERLY's party. Mr. CASSERLY would not see that Mr. GREELEY was meant, and did not recognize that his party had any candidate yet selected.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Committee spent most of the day in hearing delegations, prominent among whom were the whisky and tobacco warehousemen. Some book-publishers were also present, but did not get a hearing, owing to the preoccupation of the Committee. The tobacco warehousemen were present in large force to oppose the provisions of the bill as passed by the House. They had a hearing of considerable length, but the result was not developed. The contest is a very warm one.

TARIFF AND TAX.

It has been substantially determined in committee to repeal all taxes on sales and to increase the consolidated whisky tax to seventy cents. Several other changes will be made which were incapable of being achieved in the Committee of Ways and Means, by reason of its divisions. Many of the incongruous and hasty amendments put on in the House will be corrected in the Committee. Such a ridiculous thing as putting saltpetre and gunpowder both on the free list, the latter article being placed there simply to kill the effect of placing the former there, has brought both saltpetre and powder men here in dead earnest, and after looking the situation over, they seem to be ready to shake hands and say quit, on the mutual ground of mutual withdrawals.

THE TREATY.

The Senate held a brief executive session this afternoon, adjourning at 6 o'clock. The treaty was discussed, and a great number of amendments were offered. It is perfectly evident that the debate will consume days, even with closed doors.

AMNESTY AND CIVIL RIGHTS.

Passage of the Habeas Corpus Suspension Bill.

Civil Rights and Amnesty Bills Passed and Signed.

Congressmen, Judges and Officers who Broke Their Oaths Excluded.

A Flurry Among the Absent "Liberal" and "Reform" Senators.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The Senate finished yesterday's session today at 10½, having been sitting continuously, with the exception of a recess of an hour, almost twenty-four hours. As a result the Kuklux Law Extension bill was passed by the Senate, and has been made ready for such action as the House may choose to give it. This bill was passed about daylight. At that time there appeared a disposition on the part of many Senators to follow up the long hours of debate with action proportionate in consequence to the length of the six-hours' speech with which the transaction of business had been needlessly obstructed. Mr. CARPENTER proposed to take up the Civil Rights bill. Then two hours were spent in trying to come to some agreement about voting on the Civil Rights bill. The Democrats were determined, if possible, to break up the session without further action, and numerous motions to adjourn and to go into Executive Session were made and voted down. Finally it was agreed in substance that votes should be taken on both bills, the Democrats submitting to allow civil rights to be voted on without debate, and the Republicans being only too glad to make a seeming concession in permitting amnesty to be voted on under the same conditions. Meanwhile the great reform Senators who preach about any failure of the officers of the Administration to observe all their official duties were themselves snugly in bed, it not being a plank in their platform that Senators should attend Senatorial business except at convenient hours. Mr. SUMNER, whose health may excuse him for leaving a protracted night session, was also away.

Civil Rights having been taken up, Mr. CARPENTER moved an amendment, in the form of a substitute, which omitted the provisions of Mr. SUMNER's bill for mixed schools, and also the jury section, so called. This substitute was made by a close vote, and then the Civil Rights bill was passed, by 27 to 14. One of the House Amnesty bills, in the following terms, was taken up:

> "That all political disabilities imposed by the third section of the fourteenth article of amendment of the Constitution of the United States are hereby removed from all persons whomsoever, except Senators and Representatives of the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses, officers in the judicial, military and naval service of the United States, heads of departments and foreign Ministers of the United States."

Various amendments were offered, but they were all voted down, and the bill was finally passed by 38 to 2, which being concurrence with the House bill, made it a law, except the President's signature, and, as some think, without it.

Just as the last vote was being taken on amnesty, Mr. SUMNER came rushing into the Chamber. He had been early awakened and apprised of what was going on and hastened to the Capitol, when he was in time to offer his Civil Rights bill again as an amendment to amnesty. He was much excited because of what he termed the emasculation of his bill by the substitute of Mr. CARPENTER. He secured only thirteen votes for his amendment, nearly all the Republicans being satisfied with what has been already passed. In retaliation for this emasculation of his bill, he voted against amnesty. The other vote in the negative was Mr. NYE's, whose reason for thus voting does not appear.

Mr. ROBERTSON, who from the beginning has been the real friend of amnesty, and its most vigorous supporter, was at his post and helped to take it up and pass it. Mr. FENTON, Mr. SCHURZ, Mr. TIPTON and Mr. TRUMBULL, on the other hand, were away, and had nothing to do with its success. TIPTON and TRUMBULL, who were awakened from their sleep at home, and called to attend, barely reached the Senate in time to get their names on the record of the vote, but not early enough to enable them to lay any claim to having given any assistance to the measure. The consequence is that the Liberal Senators, when the Senate met again in the afternoon, presented a very gloomy appearance. Mr. SCHURZ was particularly down-hearted, and exhibited more depression than he has shown since he drummed himself into the support of the Greeley ticket on Judge STALLO's piano. Mr. SUMNER is greatly incensed at Mr. CARPENTER, who he says stole a march on him. Among the friends of the Administration there is the greatest delight. Some of them began to fear that the indirect efforts against amnesty by its professed friends, and the open opposition of the friends of another measure would defeat it at this session.

The passage sweeps away the strongest plank in the Cincinnati raft, and will damage the floating capacity of the concern immensely. The civil rights measure, as passed, was in a form that all Republicans voted for, and it will probably pass the House.

THE BILL IN THE HOUSE.

When the Amnesty bill reached the House Mr. BINGHAM immediately raised the point that it needed the President's signature like all other bills to become a law. A good many Democrats opposed this view, acting as though they were unwilling that Gen. GRANT should exercise his constitutional duty by showing that he was in favor of amnesty in spite of their persistent misrepresentations. Mr. DAWES exactly hit the situation when he said that all the Democratic anxiety to obtain amnesty had turned to solicitude lest it should actually be given by a Republican Congress and a Republican President. The Speaker simply followed the precedents in his rulings. Every Amnesty bill thus far has been signed by the Executive. The same question was immediately raised again by Mr. RANDALL, who proposed to have Mr. ROGERS, the North Carolina Congressman who is kept from his seat by his disabilities, sworn in. The Speaker declined to do this until the bill removing those disabilities had been signed by the President.

THE AMNESTY BILL SIGNED.

The President this afternoon signed the Amnesty bill. The exceptions will, it is supposed, cover less than 200 cases, including JEFFERSON DAVIS and JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.

THE NAVAL INQUIRY.

Official Report of the House Committee.

Full Exoneration of Secretary Robeson—Complete Summary of the Evidence Elicited—How Dana Retreated.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The report of the House Select Committee upon the charges against Secretary ROBESON was presented by Messrs. SARGENT, PETERS and WARREN. The Committee refer to the terms of the resolution as requiring, first, an investigation of the public charges affecting the personal character of the present Secretary; and next, an inquiry generally into the administration of the affairs of the Navy Department during his term of office. In view of the instructions of the House, the Committee deemed the first branch of the inquiry as of paramount importance. The report then sets forth in full the various articles in the New-York Sun in order to illustrate the thorough and complete vindication of the officers implicated, as disclosed by the testimony submitted.

DANA'S RETREAT.

The Committee say, with a view to the prompt investigation of these charges, CHARLES A. DANA, the editor of the New-York Sun, was invited to attend the sessions of the Committee, with counsel, to conduct the investigation in his own way, and have the utmost latitude in the production of papers and the examination of witnesses upon all matters relating to the Navy Department until he seized upon the temporary absence of the Chairman of the Committee as a pretext to abandon the investigation. This he was, however, not allowed to do without a personal examination upon oath at the request of the officer charged, when he disclosed the fact that he had neither any knowledge nor any reliable information upon which any of the articles in his paper could be founded. The report says the Committee do not deem it necessary to encumber the report with a detailed reference to the testimony relating to the assaults on the personal character of the Secretary and the integrity of his administration. It is enough to say that though the officer charged declined to avail himself of the privilege of appearing by counsel, while the accuser with his counsel was allowed the utmost freedom as to the extent of his investigation, yet he totally failed to produce a single witness or any proof whatever tending in the slightest degree to maintain any of the charges he had made or to throw even a doubt or suspicion upon the personal character of the Secretary, and not a single fact was advanced which would have any tendency to show any such thing.

THE MOST EXTRAORDINARY LIBELS EVER PUBLISHED.

The Committee further say that it would be superfluous to attempt to state the testimony as to the various charges, or to show in detail the conclusive manner in which each and all of them have been refuted. Not a single witness even attempted to establish one of them. Not a particle of testimony, out of all the mass appended to the report, has any tendency whatever to show any fraudulent act or design on the part of the Secretary. If it were desirable to refer to the testimony at all upon this subject in detail, it would not be for any purpose of refutation, but only to exhibit the malignant and wanton character of the libels, which gave rise to the investigation; and they further say that inasmuch as these charges, all of which were shown, not only by the most searching examination, but from the testimony of the accuser himself, to be utterly devoid of any semblance of truth, were printed in a paper of large circulation published in the chief city of the country, repeated from day to day in every phase of vituperation long after the testimony, including that of their author himself, had shown their falsehood, the Committee feel justified in denouncing them in the strongest terms as the most extraordinary libel ever published in the country against a public officer, and a shameful perversion of the privileges of the Press. They say that these personal charges were obviously the ground upon which the House of Representatives deemed it proper to institute the investigation; that the general inquiry authorized was manifestly auxiliary to the inquiry into the graver personal accusations. There appearing no proof or even suggestion to sustain these, the general inquiry into the administration of the Department was in effect a trial and judgment as to the manner in which an executive officer has exercised the discretion reposed in him as such. Such an inquiry might manifestly be extended beyond the powers of a legislative body, who make the laws which it is the duty of the executive officers and the Courts to construe.

DISCRETIONARY POWERS.

Upon the subject of the powers of executive officers, the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the head of a Department in the distribution of the duties and responsibilities of the Government is often compelled to exercise his discretion; that it is not necessary to show a statutory provision for all he does, that no Government could ever be administered on such principles; that there are numberless things which must be left to his discretion, and that of necessity usages have been established in every department of the Government which have become a kind of common law and regulate the rights and duties of those who act within their respective limits. Notwithstanding this fact, however, the Committee, with the assent and assistance of the Secretary, have investigated all the matters suggested in the course of the inquiries, and do not find any errors or irregularities of administration which would justify any action by the House or cast any discredit whatever upon the Secretary. Most of the matters which have been even attempted to be criticised in this prosecution have been the acts of bureau officers following the routine long established under former administrations, and decisions upon statutes made by former Secretaries, such officers acting with the best of motives and for the interests of the Government.

THE ENGINES OF THE TENNESSEE.

In relation to the engines for the Tennessee, in the opinion of the Committee, the result of the testimony not only exonerates the Secretary from all suspicion of any bad faith or improvident contracts, but shows a laudable effort on his part to utilize public property by taking a valuable ship rendered useless through defective machinery, and converting her with the least possible expense into a first-class and efficient vessel of war. The Committee adopt the conclusions stated in the interesting testimony of JOHN ROACH, contractor for the machinery, and fully sanctioned by the statement of the Secretary and other witnesses. It appears that the present machinery, though costing some $700,000, is like much other now in the navy—worthless in the ship or out of it for any purposes other than as old material. JOHN ROACH is to put in the new for $300,000 only, besides the old material which he is to remove from the ship and which he estimates and advertises to sell at $35,000. The contract price to be paid ROACH is considerably less than was contemplated by the acting Chief Engineer of the Navy as the cost of the work included in the contract. The machinery is to be the compound engine, now almost exclusively used in England, and which it is thought will soon in this country and elsewhere supersede all others. ROACH has the only works in this country prepared to manufacture these engines, having made them the subject of thorough investigation and experiment with a view to their introduction into the navy and the merchant marine of our country. That the work can be done more safely and cheaply at the present time by such a contract than in the navy-yards, more especially as the adoption of the engines is an experiment, and ROACH binds himself to produce certain results of a most satisfactory character or forfeit the compensation to be received. That there is reasonable expectation upon the success of the experiment with the Tennessee. That millions of dollars' worth of public property now lying useless in the docks may be rendered valuable at comparatively small expense and put in practical use.

ADVERTISING.

The Committee disposed of the objection that the machinery should have been advertised for, by the testimony that the statute upon the subject of advertising has never by any head of the Department been construed to apply to machinery or machinery to be manufactured, and the statement of the Secretary making it apparent that in a matter of this kind a different interpretation would have been inapplicable and impracticable.

THE SECOR CONTRACT.

In relation to the payment of $93,000 upon the claim of the SECORS, the report carefully examines all the ground covered by the voluminous testimony, and discusses the claim in its legal as well as equitable aspects, citing precedents and authorities to sustain its position. The Committee find that the SECORS in an exceedingly prompt, energetic, and satisfactory manner performed their contracts with the Government; that the Government, without fault of the SECORS, caused them damages and extra expenses in the matter of fulfilling their contracts, and required much additional work outside of and in addition to the work under the contract; that in this way the SECORS had against the Government two classes of claims, to wit: one for damages sustained by them within the contract, and another for extra work outside of the contract, and having nothing to do with it, except that both classes of claims arose upon the same vessels; that the settlement of the claims for damages within the contract was referred to Congress, while the claim for extra work outside, done upon the request of the Department, could be paid by the Department; that the SECORS went to Congress for the one, and to the Department for the other; that Congress adjusted and paid but one kind of claim, and did not pass upon or intend to pass upon the other, nor was such other claim before Congress; but, on the contrary, was excluded therefrom by the construction of the law, and the action and the report of the Board to whom the matter was referred by Mr. WELLES; that the $93,000 claim was a just claim, both legally and morally; that the testimony shows clearly that the items of which it was composed had never been paid, disallowed, or even considered, until allowed and paid by the present Secretary; that the delay had been occasioned by the sudden death of persons who would have examined and passed upon them, but who died before the claims were reached in the course of the investigation; that other similar bills for similar work had been paid to other parties; that said SECORS, in accepting the sum allowed by Congress, and for which they gave only an ordinary receipt for so much money received, had no reason to believe that they would be estopped to seek payment of their other claim before the Department, and were so informed at the time by members of the Naval Committee of the Senate, where the bill originated; that the claim of $93,000 was presented to Secretary BORIE, and by him referred to Admiral PORTER, and by him referred to a Board, upon whose favorable report and recommendation the claim was paid by or before the present Secretary; that the only real question is whether the claim thus examined and paid was barred by the wording of the act of Congress allowing the other claim; that if this is a question on which lawyers may differ, it is so close a question that a decision either way honestly made should not be a subject of reproach against an officer whose constitutional duty it was to decide it; that the interpretation by the Secretary of the words of the act—"in full discharge of all claims against the United States on account of the vessel upon which the Board made the allowance, as per their report under the act of March 2, 1867"—as meaning the discharge only of the claims under the act of 1867, upon which the Board made the allowance as per their report, is in the opinion of the Committee, a correct one; that the Board made no report upon the vessels, but did make an allowance and report upon certain claims on account of the vessels under the act of 1867; that act of 1867 did not include but excluded from the jurisdiction of such Board the bills making the payment of $93,000, aforesaid. So much for the legal view as taken by the Secretary as well as the Auditor and the Second Controller of the Treasury, who is the final judge of the matter, and without whose independent action the claim could not have been paid. Every consideration of justice and equity demanded the payment of this bill, and it was the duty of the Secretary to search for such an interpretation of the law within the fair import of its terms as would save the Government from the humiliation of having perpetrated a gross injustice. The Committee find that all the charges about the Corliss matter are entirely false; that not a dollar has been paid on it; and alluding to the various matters brought to their attention, they say that all other acts sought to be criticised were, within the legitimate discretion of the Secretary, exercised without impropriety of either motive or action, and that they are not able to find any rule, either of law or right, which forbids one Secretary to do justice to a public creditor merely because it has been denied or omitted by his predecessor.

CONCLUSION.

They conclude by congratulating Congress and the country that, as the result of the investigation, no stain nor suspicion of dishonor rests upon the officer charged, and that in all their searching investigation of the various and extended operations of a Government Department, covering three years, with an expenditure of nearly $60,000,000, they have found nothing which affords pretext for attack, and so little which needed explanation, even in matters of discretion.

THE MINORITY (OF ONE) VIEW.

Mr. BLAIR, of Michigan, first examines the allowance by the Secretary of the Navy of $93,000 to the SECORS, reviewing all the facts of the case. He says that under the act of Congress they received the sum appropriated for them as a full discharge of all claims on account of the vessels Tecumseh, Mahopac and Manhattan. The Secretary of the Navy, however, disregarded the law, reopened the account which had been closed by the Department and by Congress, and allowed them the above-named sum. That this payment was not only without law, but in direct violation of law, there can be no doubt whatever. It took out of the Treasury $93,000, against the prohibition of a plain statute, and gave it to parties to whom the Government owed nothing. It was also against a wholesome rule of the Department that one Administration should not reopen accounts which had been closed by another—its predecessor. The money was taken out of the appropriation made by Congress to pay the current expenses of the Navy Department for the current year, to pay an old iron-clad claim.

Admiral PORTER had remonstrated against it, and Mr. LENTHALL had declared it illegal. It has been suggested by the friends of the Secretary, and by himself, that it was a question of the construction of the statute, but the statute is too clear for construction. The claim had been brought before Congress, patiently heard, and settled in full, and the Secretary knew it. If this Secor claim had been just, it would have been easy to have it sent to the Appropriation Committee in the usual way; but the Secretary was in hot haste, and could not wait for the slow movements of this body, though it was in session at the time.

Mr. BLAIR next considers the case of the war steamer Tennessee, and says the Secretary of the Navy concluded a contract with JOHN ROACH to take out the old engines and put in new ones in that vessel. The contract was made without advertisement or any publicity whatever, Mr. ROACH being the moving party in it. It agrees to give ROACH the sum of $300,000 in cash, the old machinery and boilers to be taken out, and the vessel, valued at $65,000, for his compensation. A large amount of testimony was given by Mr. DANA for the purpose of showing that this contract was illegal and greatly prejudicial to the interests of the Government. It was claimed to be illegal, because, first, it was let privately without advertisement and open competition as required by law and by the general practice of the Department, and second, it bartered away the machinery and boilers already in the vessel, which was the property of the Government, without any authority of law; that it was prejudicial to the interests of the Government because the machinery and boilers were bartered for less than their real value, and because too high a price was agreed to be paid for the new boilers and machinery; that the whole being repairs of an old ship ought to have been done at the navy-yards. Whatever the facts may be, it could have done no harm to have advertised for proposals for this work in the usual way, and thus invited competition. There was no necessity for haste, and no excuse for a private compact, and Mr. BLAIR understands the law of 1861 absolutely to require publicity, except in cases of great emergency. If Mr. ROACH is correct in his opinion that no one else could do this work, then he would certainly have obtained the contract and have avoided the suspicion that necessarily attaches to what is done in a corner. If the proposals had been invited, then it would have been known whether any other builders wished to undertake the work and what was their opinion of its value if they did so wish. As to the authority of the Secretary to exchange one engine for another, Mr. BLAIR does not know from what source he derives the power. If he could barter the engines and boilers of the Tennessee for another set, might he not, with equal reason, have traded the ship itself for another of which he might think better. It had been supposed that public property could not be disposed of without the express authority of the law, and there are many decisions to that effect. Whether the trade was a thrifty one for the Government or not does not very clearly appear. What has been said in regard to the contract for the repair of the steamer Tennessee applies fully to the contracts for the torpedo boats; they were made without advertisement, and much in the same manner. The prices paid are no doubt somewhat higher than they would have been if competition had been invited. The practice of construing away the laws which seem to have obtained very generally of late in the Navy Department cannot meet with the approval of any good citizen. The officers of the Executive Department ought to be held to the most scrupulous obedience to the laws, and in cases of doubt they should appeal to Congress, and not endeavor by strained construction to reach an object that may be desired.

Mr. BLAIR then examines the steamer Governor claim, and comes to the conclusion that the allowance of $52,000 for her loss by the Secretary of the Navy was improper, and asks why was not this Governor case sent to the Court of Claims where the Government could have had counsel and a proper defense. There is every reason to believe that it was a groundless claim and never could have prevailed in any Court if the matter was doubtful enough to require the opinion of Mr. EVARTS, the paid counsel of the claimants. After it had been once rejected by the Secretary why would it not have been well at least to have gotten the opinion of the Attorney-General of the United States, an officer who might be supposed to speak impartially?

AN APOLOGY FOR DANA.

Mr. BLAIR says, in conclusion, that it remains only to consider the charges of personal corruption against the Secretary of the Navy, which were so freely indulged in in the newspaper articles, which were the principal occasion of the inquiry. Mr. DANA when on the stand as a witness himself testifies that he had no evidence to show the division or appropriation of any money by the Secretary. That, he says, is a matter of inference, and it did not need that Mr. DANA should state this. It was evident from his newspaper articles that he was not only resorting very freely to inferences, but that he was making inferences which his facts did not fully justify. It is all summed up in Mr. DANA's own language, namely: "I could not conceive of a man making such a payment with any honest motive or purpose." That was the whole idea. Having detected the Secretary of the Navy in making a plainly illegal payment of $93,000, Mr. DANA insists that it is impossible there should be any but a corrupt motive for the act. This view would leave no room for the errors which arise from the hurry of business, from a partial understanding of the case, and from those outside influences which go far many times to mislead the judgment of a man whose motives are after all not wholly wicked. The public officer is often very bad, while the man is not really personally corrupt. While I abate nothing of what I have said in the preceding pages of this report, and while I believe that the administration of the Navy Department is anything but creditable to the country at this time, I cannot say that the charges of personal corruption against the Secretary of the Navy are made out in the proof. As to that, therefore, he is to be acquitted. It is an acknowledged fact all over the country that the United States Navy, once the source of unmixed pride to the people, has been of late years rapidly degenerating into a cause for fear and apprehension. Sums of money have been expended, and still the navy shows no sign of improvement. Its situation furnishes the most unanswerable charge against the administration of the Secretary. It is barnacled all over, and if its administration is not speedily changed for the better, the people of this country are likely to be brought to shame on its account.

ANOTHER MINORITY OF ONE.

Mr. ARCHER says: I agree with the majority of the Committee so far as they exonerate the Secretary of the Navy from all charges of corruption, fraud and dishonesty. I dissent from their conclusions and interpretations of laws cited and referred to by them. I believe that the payment of the Secor claim of $93,000 was in violation of the law stated at length in the report signed by the Chairman of the Committee. I believe that the barter of the engines of the Tennessee was contrary to law, and that the contract for the new engines to be furnished by JOHN ROACH was in violation of the law of 1861, requiring all the Departments of the Government to advertise for proposals before making awards; so also was the awarding of the contracts for the iron of the torpedo boats; so also was the purchase of $14,000 worth of hemp.

AFFAIRS IN ENGLAND.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, May 11, 1872.

The Literary Fund Dinner on Wednesday night was a great success. The King of the Belgians took the chair, and discharged the duties belonging to it in a genial and graceful manner which pleased everybody. His speeches were neat and brief, and very much to the point. He speaks English fluently, with a thorough appreciation of its idioms; and he contrived to say everything that ought to be said without introducing any awkward allusions. He was supported by the Duke of EDINBURGH, Prince ARTHUR, and the Duke of CAMBRIDGE, by most of the Ambassadors, including Gen. SCHENCK, who sat next Mr. DISRAELI, and by a large number of distinguished persons. Altogether some five hundred gentlemen sat down to dinner; and the orchestra and galleries of St. James Hall, where the gathering took place, were filled with ladies. It is a barbarous custom this of putting the women upstairs to look down upon the men feeding below, and at but a few public dinners the more civilized and agreeable usage is now adopted of placing the two sexes side by side at table. On this occasion, however, there were considerations of space which rendered this impossible. If women want to mix more with men, they must begin by taking up less room. On Wednesday, for example, the area was packed as full as it would hold with men; but for each woman who might have been admitted to the tables, at least a couple of men would have had to be ejected. The King of the Belgians showed genuine feeling as well as delicacy in proposing the health of the Queen and the other members of the royal family, whose cousin he is. The Duke of EDINBURGH stammered over the few commonplace words he had to utter in thanking his "very kind cousin" for his kindly speech; and the Duke of CAMBRIDGE, who is not exactly an orator, but rattles on in a bluff, hearty way, responded for the army. It is a rule of the Literary Fund that its charities shall be secretly dispensed; what is given is known only to the officials who administer the fund and the recipients of its bounty, but it is the privilege and the duty of the Chairman at the annual dinner to look into the accounts, and to bear testimony that the money has been properly applied. The King of the Belgians said he had examined these "interesting and touching archives," and testified "how tenderly, how fraternally, how delicately this valuable assistance was secretly dispensed." He was very flattering of course to England; everything there was stamped, he said, with a peculiar mark of grandeur, and the field of literature was one of remarkable magnitude. And then he went on to bespeak sympathy and help for the "valiant warriors of the pen" who were beaten down in the fight. It fell to Mr. DISRAELI to propose the King's health, and he did it very happily. He spoke of the success of the principle of neutrality upon which the independence of Belgium was based, and which had consecrated to perpetual peace the battle-field of Europe. He applauded the statesmanship of LEOPOLD I.—the most eminent statesman of the nineteenth century—credited the present King with much of his father's tact and judgment, and wound up with a little conceit which tickled the audience. It might seem an inconsistency, he observed, to have a monarch presiding over the Republic of Letters, but it was at least a charming inconsistency, and they should meet it with one as "amiably fragrant," and give their Chairman a right royal welcome.

MODERN MEN OF LETTERS.

There has been a little controversy as to this Literary Fund. The Times asserts that literature was never so well paid as it is now, and that successful men of letters ought to assist their unfortunate brethren out of their own pockets, without appealing to the general public. But who are men of letters? The fact is that the number of professional men of letters is, excluding journalists, very small, and is probably declining; and the journalists are becoming rather men of business than men of letters. There were probably not much more than a score of professional writers at Wednesday's dinner, and certainly the most distinguished names in the list—distinguished, I mean, in literary reputation—did not belong to men who depend on literature for their livelihood. Everybody writes books nowadays, or at least articles. The Duke of EDINBURGH has written a book of travels; Lord STRATFORD DE REDCLIFFE indulges in poetry; Lord HOUGHTON is another poet, (I am just running over the company at the dinner,) so in a certain way is or was Lord JOHN MANNERS; Gen. COST, the Queen's Master of the Ceremonies, has written on military history; Sir HENRY HOLLAND has recorded his travels and personal recollections; Sir J. F. BAXTON wrote his father's life; Sir W. STIRLING MAXWELL is a well-known writer on Spanish art and other subjects; Sir H. RAWLINSON writes on Eastern questions; Sir RUTHERFORD ALCOCK writes on Japan; Sir J. W. KAYE, the Under Secretary at the Indian Office, has published books and writes for magazines and papers; Mr. BERESFORD HOPE has also contributed largely to current literature. But none of these are distinctively men of letters. Mr. HENRY REEVE, the editor of the Edinburgh Review, is one of the Secretaries at the Privy Council; Mr. HERMAN MERRIALL, another reviewer, is at the Indian Office; Mr. W. R. GREY, a vigorous journalist, is at the head of the Government Stationery Office; Mr. TOM TAYLOR, dramatist and art critic, is at the Public Health Office; Mr. J. A. FROUDE is a popular historian, who has found history profitable, but he is a man of independent means, and not a professional writer; Mr. DISRAELI is an eminent novelist, but though he once said modestly that letters were his only escutcheon, it is not as a litterateur that he is first thought of. The Times and other morning papers are now written by professional journalists, who have time for nothing else, and who depend on this work for their livelihood; but there are, I believe, not more than two or three of the same class connected either with the Saturday Review or the Pall Mall. The Spectator may be said, perhaps, to be a purely literary paper, being composed chiefly by the two gentlemen who edit and own it. Mr. BAGEHOT, the editor of the Economist, has written excellent books and articles, but his main business in life is the management of an important banking-house. The truth is that when a man distinguishes himself now in literature, it is ten chances to one that he is not a professional man of letters.

THE PUBLISHING SYSTEM.

If a man has to live by his pen, he cannot resist the temptation to become a journalist, inasmuch as nothing pays so well; and if he becomes a journalist, that means good-by to everything except the jog-trot round of articles which are his daily bread. He has neither time nor energy for anything else. It seldom pays to write books, and all magazine literature is miserably underpaid. Books and magazines are getting to be more and more written by people who write, partly for amusement and partly to eke out an income, but who have other resources. These people are glad to have their productions published on almost any terms; and the publishers trade on this. The prices paid for books are getting continually lower. Of course, if a writer makes a great hit, and leaps into popularity, he can command a good figure; but I am speaking only of average literature. As a rule an author seldom gets more than from fifty pounds to one hundred pounds at the utmost for a book, even for a book that seems to sell well, and is heard of at all the libraries. The chances are that he will get nothing at all, and he is almost exceptionally fortunate if he is not actually out of pocket after all his labor and anxiety. I should say that if there is really, as Mr. APPLETON says, a desire on the part of American publishers to treat directly for original works, English writers would be very glad to hear from them. Two or three paper brokers and printers have command of the English publishing trade, and masquerade under the name of different publishing firms. Their business is to push the printing and paper-broking businesses, and the "half profits" system is so worked that the publisher does a good stroke of business for his masters, the printer and stationer, and run no risk himself, the loss, if there is any, falling to the author's share. The result is that, as there are always fresh flies coming to be scorched, no end of trash is published, and the standard of English literature is seriously deteriorated. The publisher's other ally is the circulating library, which will take so many copies of anything that looks outwardly like a book if it can be had for a few shillings, while the publishing price is fixed at a pound or more.

MORE STRIKES.

The strikes are spreading. Everybody is striking or threatening to strike. The other day it was the agricultural laborers. Now it is the domestic servants and the sailors. The agricultural laborers seemed to have gained a shilling or two a week by their movement, but I am afraid it is a gain which is rather nominal than real. The threats of the domestic servants are also apparently a flash in the pan. The women servants of Dundee have held a meeting to demand not more wages, but more leisure, and the abolition of the hated cap which they are expected to wear. At Leamington the men-servants have also had a demonstration. In point of fact both men and women servants are among the best paid and least worked people in the country. They are already masters and mistresses of the situation; their wages are continually on the increase, and the number of servants who have to be engaged is also increasing. If they push things much further Englishmen will have to study American devices for doing with as little domestic labor as possible. In an ordinary middle-class home, with one or two children, there may or may not be a man-servant, but it is difficult to manage with less than four or five women servants, a cook, a house-maid, a couple of nurses, and, perhaps, a kitchen-maid or parlor-maid into the bargain. The cook will have from £20 to £30; the first nurse £20; the house-maid and second nurse £15, and the others £12. These have all to be fed, supplied with beer, tea, &c. Most, if not all, of the washing is put out; men are engaged to clean windows. Extra help is provided for special cleanings or parties. When all have been paid, there will not be much change left out of £300 or £400. In proportion to the number of servants is the absence of control over all domestic arrangements. Where there is a butler, the butler is practically master, and feathers his nest with commissions from all the trades-people. The utter waste of English life is something incredible except to those who have looked into it. The amount of good food which is literally thrown away by servants would feed many families. Nothing seems to have come of the menaces of the servants either at Leamington or Dundee, and the less they say about themselves, the better it will be for them. The next step will be a general reduction in the number of domestic servants; their wages will no doubt continue to go up, and some means will have to be contrived for doing with fewer of them. As for the sailors, they have struck in earnest at Southampton and in the east of London. At Southampton there seems to be some danger that the Peninsular and Oriental Shipping Company may be brought to a standstill; at least, there was a real danger of this at one moment, although now it may have been surmounted. I have a notion the seamen have really a good case. There can be little doubt that their lives are sometimes shamefully jeopardized by greedy ship-owners, who send out ships in an unseaworthy condition, or with crews which are either too small in number, or composed in a large degree of incompetent men, picked up at any price and shipped drunk, a handful of really good men being expected to do all the work.

THE THEATRES—FRENCH PLAYS.

The French plays have somehow not been a success this year. First they tried high moral pieces, but these were either so dull that English audiences could not endure five acts of depressing virtue, or they were so ludicrously sentimental that people laughed. Then came RAVEL, who was as much too broad as his predecessors were too dismal. Things are getting better now. SARDOU's last piece, "Rabagas," has been produced with a good cast, and the members of the French Comedy are soon to arrive. The plot of "Rabagas" is so well known that I need not go over it. The hero is a caricature of the Democratic avocat who plays so prominent a part in French politics. The Bonapartist and Legitimists identify the character with GAMBETTA, while the Republicans hold that, if it is like anybody, it is OLLIVIER. At first, however, GAMBETTA's friends were indiscreet enough to acknowledge that it must be meant for him, and to show their resentment by hissing and shouting. Once or twice a serious riot seemed about to break out at the Vaudeville. Even in London, since it has been played, there have been some small disturbances at St. James' Theatre, and the disputants, ejected by the Police, have continued their controversy in the street. It is a vigorous, lively play, well put together from a dramatic point of view, and has been very successful here as well as in Paris.

Business in the Court of General Sessions.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, before Recorder HACKETT, LOUIS ROCHESTER was placed at the bar, and Assistant District-Attorney FELLOWES asked that he be committed to the House of Detention in default of $1,000 bail. The Recorder so ordered, and said that the case against HAYES must be proceeded with at once and ordered it to be placed on the calender for to-morrow.

GEORGE LAYLAND pleaded guilty to mayhem and was sentenced to seven years' hard-labor in the State Prison.

LAWRENCE GREEN and EUGENE G. BLACKFORD were charged with cruelty to animals. Mr. BERGH stated that he was passing down Beekman-street, on the 16th of October last, when he saw a turtle in the defendant's wagon, bleeding from the stomach, and on examining it found that the shell on its back was crushed. In addition, the flippers of the animal were perforated, and ropes tied to keep it still. He caused the arrest of the defendant GREEN and his employer, BLACKFORD. The trial occupied nearly the whole day, and the defense produced two turtles for the purpose of showing that placing them on their back was the only way to bring them securely to market. The jury deliberated for two hours, but could not agree on a verdict, and were accordingly discharged. It was stated that ten stood for conviction and two for acquittal.

WILLIAM BARCLAY was convicted of stealing some diamond studs from a room in the Grand Hotel, and sentence was postponed until today.

Indicted Murderers.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday, FREDERICK HEGGI, MICHAEL DE ROSA, GEORGE LAVERY and JEREMIAH EVANS, all under indictment for murder in the first degree, and DANIEL M. MORROW, indicted for manslaughter in the first degree, were brought up for trial. All were remanded for trial at a future day. It will be remembered that GEORGE LAVERY, one of the prisoners, is indicted for the murder of Detective LAMBRECHT, and FREDERICK HEGGI, another, for the murder of FREDERICK J. SEIGFRIED's wife, by administering poison. The trials will all doubtless take place during the present or coming term, together with that of Mrs. BURNS, under indictment for abortion.

WEDNESDAY, May 22—P. M.

The gross amount of United States 5-20s, offered to the Sinking Fund at the Treasury at noon today, was $6,210,000, of which the Secretary of the Treasury, by telegram from Washington, accepted $2,000,000, (as advertised for,) at 113.10@113.45 ₩ cent., paying the accrued interest since the last Dividend on the Bonds, in Gold. The Public Funds in the open market were subsequently firm and left off fully up to the last prices of Tuesday—the long 6 ₩ cents, of 1881 ½@¾ ₩ cent. higher.

The Export employment of Gold Coin for the Cunarder sailing to-day was $850,000, which being a larger amount by at least half a million than calculated on last night, induced the Bull speculators to advance the sales to 114 ₩ cent. Exchange, although looking firm, was in better supply by the unexpected shipment of Gold, and first-class Bills were left over at 109¾ ₩ cent.

The joint interests of the Central Road of New-Jersey and the Delaware and Lackawanna Road, through Messrs. MOSES TAYLOR, JOHN C. GREEN and ADAM NORIE, have bought out a Convertible 7 ₩ cent. 20 years' Loan, to be issued by the Delaware Company, and the Bonds to be convertible into the Stock of that Road between June 1, 1875, and June 1, 1877. These Bonds are also to be included in any future mortgage that may be made upon the Road. The Loan is for $3,000,000, free of all taxes, and proposals are invited at the City Bank to June 1, when 25 ₩ cent. will be called up upon the amounts subscribed or awarded.

For the old Railway Mortgages there is a good investment demand, and some of the Western issues are considerably above par, and the Central Pacifics 103¾ ₩ cent.

In the Southern State Bonds there was business today as high as 73¾ for Tennessees, and at 48 for the old North Carolinas.

The Share speculation at the Stock Exchange was active, but generally on the downward turn, the decline being especially marked, (3@5 ₩ cent.,) and the transactions, in good part it is supposed for the Bull account, very large, something over 50,000 shares. Erie Stock also fell off to 70 and a fraction cash and 68 short seller's option, the sales being attributed to parties operating in the London market, where the price failed to keep pace with the New-York advance on Saturday and Monday last. The Telegraph Stock and New-York Central, and most of the Western Roads, were also weaker than yesterday, but the changes not so important. The market altogether was a very lively one, without any appearance of panic reaction beyond the unexpected heavy sales of Pacific Mail.

In the afternoon there was continued excitement in Pacific Mail. The belief was general that the inside clique, including the President of the Company, had turned out a very large share of their holdings. The price touched 80¾, but subsequently sold at 80¾@80¼ ₩ cent. On the general market the following quotations were made at 5 o'clock P. M.

Money quoted among the Brokers at 6@7 ₩ cent.

There was something of a sensation, (perhaps an advertising dodge,) between two Gold Brokers this Afternoon, growing out of a round bid in the Gold Room for $1,000,000 Gold, at 114 per cent. cash. The bid was accepted, and the settlement of the transaction adjourned to the office of the buyer, in Wall-street. A tender was made of the Gold chiefly in Gold Notes of the Treasury, but part in certified Gold Check or Checks on one or more of the Banks. This was refused, and all Gold Notes demanded. On the other hand, the buyer had prepared himself with $1,140,000 National Bank Notes, which he claimed to be "cash." As these Notes are not strictly a legal tender, they were refused. And so, after gathering a crowd around the office and several policemen and detectives, and a disputation of an hour or less, the affair was adjourned for settlement until to-morrow. The doubt of Street is, as to whether the buyer wanted the million or the seller really wanted to supply the million. The market closed 113¾@114 ₩ cent.

The Union Trust Company, as Trustees to the Sinking Fund Mortgage of the Lake Shore and Michigan Road, advertise to purchase any part of $200,000, under sealed proposals to Friday noon, May 31, of the Sinking Fund Bonds of the Road.

Messrs. HANNA BROTHERS, No. 11 Wall-street, advertise to buy and sell bonds of all kinds, making investment securities a specialty.

THE STOKES TRIAL.

Motion by the District-Attorney to Arraign Stokes—Mr. McKeon Asks for a Further Postponement—The Case Set Down for Today.

The announcement in the public journals that the trial of EDWARD S. STOKES would probably be commenced in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday, drew together a large number of spectators, who, together with the petit jurors summoned, crowded the court-room to the utmost limit of its capacity. The question as to who would take the place of Messrs. GRAHAM and GERRY has been set at rest by the selection of LYMAN TREMAIN, Ex-Attorney-General of the State, to assist Mr. JOHN MCKEON. With these gentlemen is also associated Mr. HENRY DAILEY, Jr., who, though laboring in the case from the beginning, in collecting testimony for the defense, has not until now deemed it prudent to appear openly in the case, lest the publicity should embarrass him in working up his part of the defense. At 10½ o'clock Judge INGRAHAM took his seat on the bench, and about the same time Mr. STOKES was brought into Court in charge of a Deputy Sheriff. The prisoner appeared cheerful, but was evidently much reduced in flesh, careworn, and his health visibly affected. The petit jurors having been called by the Clerk, Mr. District-Attorney GARVIN arose and said:

If the Court please, I move that EDWARD S. STOKES be now arraigned upon the indictment for the murder of JAMES FISK, the younger, on the 6th of January, 1872, in the City and County of New-York.

Mr. MCKEON—I stand alone as counsel of Mr. STOKES. When this case was last before the Court, I had two gentlemen of distinguished ability associated with me. For reasons satisfactory to themselves they have retired from the case. I have not yet been able to associate with me such counsel as I think ought to be in this case. The responsibility is too great for any single individual. I am aware that the public prosecutor is called upon by a sense of duty to ask us to plead, but I am not ready to do so at the present moment. There is a point which is to be settled before I put in a final plea. I have been actually engaged since Friday in a case in the Superior Court which will take two days more, and I should ask a favor of the Court that this be put down for Monday, when I shall plead and take one step in the case. I have not consulted with any counsel in regard to this case as to what should be done with reference to the pleading.

District-Attorney GARVIN—If your Honor please, this murder was committed on the 6th of January last. On the 15th of January, in the same month, the indictment was filed in this Court. An effort was made on the next day, or the next day but one, to obtain a plea from the prisoner. A delay was granted, and seven special pleas were interposed. A demurrer was interposed to six of these pleas, and issue taken on the seventh. The demurrer was before your Honor, and decided against the prisoner. The issue of fact was tried before Justice CARDOZO, and extended over a period of twelve days, when a verdict was found for the people. A stay of proceedings was granted of twenty days, to enable the prisoner to make out a case, or bill of exceptions. That bill of exceptions was made, settled, signed, and is now on file. I insist, your Honor, that this prisoner should plead today, and put this case in a position so that the main issue can go to trial before a petit jury. You are aware that the Summer vacation is close at hand, and this case should be tried and disposed of not only for the benefit of the people, but I think the safety, the honor and the integrity of the public interest demand that the prisoner should now plead, after all these indulgences, and to put us in a position that we may go to trial. If he pleads now, I am prepared to proceed next Monday with the trial of his case and desire so to do. Undoubtedly what the gentleman on the other side says in regard to his associate counsel is true. But I am alone in this case. I have had the whole thing from the beginning alone, and if my friend thinks fit to go on he has as much experience in criminal matters as any man on this continent. He preceded me in the office I now hold, and discharged his duties ably and well. He is as competent as any man on the continent of America to defend this prisoner and present all his rights fairly before a jury. I know of no reason why he should not plead now and put us in a position to go to trial.

Mr. MCKEON—What indulgence has been granted to us in this case? When the word indulgence is used it supposes a favor. What have we done in this case? When the indictment was brought in we moved to quash it. That failed and we took another position which the law authorized of putting in special pleas. The District-Attorney will remember that we rather indulged him, whether or not he would demur or plead to that indictment. He says he is alone. I suppose I am justified in saying that counsel outside the District-Attorney's office have informed me that they advised him not to demur to the plea. I had reason to believe there were other counsel associated with the prosecution of eminent ability. The delay has occurred in consequence of our pleas being authorized by law. There has never been such a trial in this State before as we have had in this case. I have not consulted with counsel up to the present time, and I only ask a few hours' delay, and I think the request is so reasonable that the Court will not refuse it.

Judge INGRAHAM—I am inclined to believe that the delays which have been granted in this case are all that should be allowed. The motions to quash the indictment and to put in special pleas have all been exhausted. The judgment in the special pleas should have required you to answer at once. There is no other plea to be put in now but a plea to the merits. The other pleas have been exhausted already, and the law does not permit a repetition of them.

Mr. MCKEON—I have in my hand another special plea. It is not my invention; it is the property of the other two gentlemen who left the case.

Judge INGRAHAM—If there is any other special plea it ought to be put in now.

Mr. MCKEON—It is a special plea in bar.

Judge INGRAHAM—I will let the case over until to-morrow morning, and the prisoner must put in his plea.

District-Attorney GARVIN asked that this matter do not go to trial until he was aware of its contents.

The proceedings then terminated.

The Importers' and Grocers' Board of Trade.

A special meeting of the Importers' and Grocers' Board of Trade was held yesterday, the President, Mr. WM. A. BOOTH, in the chair. The meeting was for the purpose of choosing a nominating committee to suggest the names of officers for the coming year. The following were appointed the committee by the Chair, representing each interest in the Board: GEO. W. LANE, the tea interest; B. B. SHERMAN, refiner; CALEB B. KNEVALS, importer; GEO. A. MARVIN, grocer; L. H. SAGE, broker. The election will take place June 5.

BEES-WAX—Has been in moderate request at 40c.@41c. for Yellow, ₱ ℔.

BOOTS AND SHOES—There has been a moderate call for seasonable stock, chiefly from the local and near-by trade, at uniform quotations. From the Eastern States, the report is that trade has been very fairly active, and an improvement is noticeable in this branch, owing principally to the continued seasonable weather. The Boston local trade has also continued healthily brisk, and there are no signs of any abatement to the activity.

COCOA—Has been slow of sale, though quoted steady, including Maracaibo at 30c@32c.; Caracas, 19½c.@20c.; Guayaquil, 14c.@15c.; San Domingo, 8c., gold, in bond, ₱ ℔.

COFFEE—The offerings of all kinds have been on a limited scale, and holders have been decidedly firm in their views as to price, impeding operations, though the demand has been good. Sales have been reported since our last of 4,000 bags Santos, by the Brazillero, on private terms, and, rumored, an invoice of Laguayra, without reliable particulars. Quotations about as before.

COTTON—Has been in more confident demand for early delivery at an improvement of ⅛c. ₱ ℔., with sales reported of 2,690 bales, including 719 bales to shippers, 299 bales to spinners, 506 bales to speculators, and 1,166 bales in transit. For forward delivery there has been an active movement at an advance of ⅛c. ₱ ℔. Sales, 16,350 bales, (6,750 bales last evening and 6,900 bales today,) basis of Low Middling, including last evening for May, 400 bales at 23¾c.; June, 100 bales at 23 15-16c., 2,900 bales at 24c., 200 bales at 23 15-16c., 200 bales at 24c.; July, 1,400 bales at 24⅛c.; August, 100 bales at 24c., 100 bales at 23¾c.; September, 100 bales at 22 1-16c., 100 bales at 22c., 500 bales at 22 1-16c; October, 200 bales at 20⅜c.; November, 100 bales at 19 9-16c., 50 bales at 19 7-16c., 300 bales at 19⅝c. And today, for May, 400 bales at 23⅞c., 200 bales at 23 13-16c., 600 bales at 23⅞c; June, 200 bales at 24 1-16c., 200 bales at 24c., 1,700 bales at 24 1-16c., 200 bales at 24c., 600 bales at 24⅛c. 300 bales at 24 1-16c., 100 bales at 24⅛c., 300 bales at 24 1-16c., 600 bales at 24⅛c., 100 bales at 24 1-16c.; July, 1,150 bales at 24⅜c.; August, 550 bales at 24⅛c.; September, 300 bales at 22⅛c.; 500 bales at 22 3-16c.; 500 bales at 22⅛c.; October 100 bales at 20½c., 100 bales at 20 9-16c., 100 bales at 20⅝c.; 400 bales at 20½c., November, 100 bales at 19 11-16c., 100 bales at 19 9-16c., 100 bales at 19⅝c.; December, 100 bales at 19 3-16c, Exchanged—3-16c. paid to exchange 100 bales May for 100 bales June; 1-16c. paid to exchange 100 bales June for 100 bales August; 400 bales June exchanged for 400 bales August, even. The average quotations of yesterday's forward deliveries, as officially reported upon the bulletin, were as follows: May, 23.81c.; June, 23.97c.; July, 24.25c.; August, 23.90c.; September, 22.03c.; October, 20.35c.; November, 19 9-16c. The receipts at this port today were 1,144 bales, including 89 bales per rail, 82 bales from Indianola, 457 bales from Charleston, 404 bales from Savannah, 152 bales from Norfolk. The reported receipts at the shipping ports today were 1,590 bales, and thus far this week 7,696 bales, against 10,825 bales same time the preceding week. The receipts at all the shipping ports since Sept. 1 have been 2,606,334 bales, against 3,726,421 bales in 1870–71. The following official quotations are based on Cotton running in quality not more than have a grade above or below the grade quoted:

HIDES—Trade has been slow in most descriptions, though values show no further changes of moment; sales, 8,000 Indianola on private terms.

HOPS—There has been a moderate call noted for stock at full rates; last year's growth unusually scarce. We quote crop of 1871 at 25c.@75c., the latter for extra choice; crop of 1870 at 10c.@40c., and fancy lots quoted up to 50c.; older growths at 8c.@25c.; foreign at 60c.@75c.

LATHS, LIME AND LUMBER—A fairly active inquiry prevails for desirable lots at steady rates.

MOLASSES—Dull at unchanged figures; 80 bbls. New-Orleans sold at 76c.@80c. ₱ gallon.

NAVAL STORES—Resin has been in very moderate demand on the basis of previous quotations; 300 bbls. No. 1 and Pale were sold at $4 75@$6 25 ₱ 280 ℔s....Tar dull at unaltered figures....Spirits Turpentine has been freely dealt in at firmer prices, with sales reported of 375 bbls. at 62½c.@63½c., closing at 63½c. for full, and 63½c.@65c. for small lots; and 170 bbls., to arrive, at 62½c.@63c. ₱ gallon.

PETROLEUM—Crude has been very quiet since our last on the basis of 13c.@13¼c. in bulk, and 17¼c.@17½c. in shipping order....Nothing really new in Naphtha....Refined has been in light demand at about previous prices, Standard White having been quoted here at 23¾c. for early delivery; sales have been reported of 2,000 bbls., high test, at 24c.; also 5,000 bbls. Standard White, June deliveries, at 23¼c. ₱ gallon....At Philadelphia the current quotations were 23¼c. for prompt, and 23½c. for May and June. Case-oil unchanged.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been in less demand for early delivery at about previous figures. Sales have been reported of 470 bbls., at $13 85@$13 95 for new Western Mess; $13 for old Mess; $13@$13 12½ for Prime Mess, and $11 for Prime, ₱ bbl. For forward delivery sales have been reported since our last of 2,000 bbls. Western Mess, including 1,000 bbls. seller June at $13 75@$13 80, and 1,000 bbls. seller August at $14 20@$14 25....City-dressed Hogs continue quiet at 5¾c.@6¼c. ₱ ℔....Cut-meats have been in good demand at from 9¼c.@10½c. for Dry-salted and Sweet-pickled Hams; 11¼c. for Smoked do., and 5¼c.@5½c. for Shoulders, and 8c.@8¼c. for Bellies, ₱ ℔. The reported sales since our last are 550 pks. within the range....Bacon has been in fair demand and quoted firmer; sales, 650 boxes at 7¼c.@7½c. for Long Clear, and 8¼c. for Short Clear ....Lard has been quiet and weak in price; sales have been reported of 790 tcs. and bbls., for early delivery, at 8¾c.@9¼c. for No. 1 to choice Steam and Kettle-rendered, chiefly at 9 5-16c.@9⅜c. for Western Steam; 9 1-16c. for New, to arrive; 9¼c.@9½c. for Kettle; 8¾c. for City Steam and Kettle; 8¼c.@9c. for No. 1. Base-Ball Notes.

The Forest Citys, of Cleveland, play the Bostons, at Boston, today. On Saturday, the former meet the Eckfords on the Union Ground.

Yesterday the Mansfields, of Middletown, started on their second tour, during which they will encounter all the clubs entered for the championship, making their appearance here on the 1st prox.

The Baltimores and Athletics play today at Baltimore, and again on Saturday at Philadelphia.

The Mutuals meet the Bostons, at Boston, on the 30th inst., and the Athletics, in Brooklyn, June 1.

It is probable that the Haymakers' visit to Chicago will not take place before August.

A rule recently brought into force concerning the practice of the Mutual players requires the men to report at the Union Grounds at 10 A. M. on all days except when matches are to take place in the afternoon. The players remain on the field for two hours, during which every man is allowed a certain number of "strikes," the remainder holding their regular positions in the field. Every requirement of the rule has so far been complied with, and the discipline thus effected has been no doubt one of the causes of the good play of the men, which, so far, have a better fielding record than any previous representatives of the Mutual Club.

CRICKET.

On Monday, the married and single members of the St. George Club play a match at the Hoboken Grounds.

90 and ACCRUED INTEREST.

The Road runs from Buffalo to the Detroit River, and is the Eastern link in the new AIR LINE FROM BUFFALO TO CHICAGO, and has been under construction for about two years past by railroad men who have seen the necessity for a STEEL RAIL, LOW GRADE SHORT ROUTE between the great railroad systems which diverge from Chicago, Toledo and Buffalo.

Among the builders of the road, by whose cash subscriptions 220 miles (out of 290) have already been graded, bridged and made ready for the superstructure, a large part of the steel rails bought, all of the materials for the stations, and a part of the equipment purchased, are:

MILTON COURTRIGHT, JOHN F. TRACY DAVID DOWS, WM. L. SCOTT, HENRY FARNHAM, R. A. FORSYTH, HENRY H. PORTER, JOHN M. BURKE, M. L. SYKES, JR., B. F. ALLEN, all directors, either in the Chicago and Northwest, or the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; GEO. OPDYKE, of the Midland Road; JOHN B. ALLEN, SIDNEY DILLON, DANIEL DREW, J. S. CASEMENT, J. & J. CASEY, O. S. CHAPMAN, JOHN ROSS, DAVID STEWART, and F. H. WINSTON.

THE ROAD will be

33 MILES SHORTER THAN ANY OTHER ROAD,

either BUILT or in contemplation between Buffalo and Chicago, and will also shorten the distance between Toledo and Buffalo twenty-three miles.

THE MAXIMUM GRADE on the entire line does not exceed FIFTEEN FEET to the mile—and Ninety-six per cent. of the road IS STRAIGHT.

THE ROAD WILL BE COMPLETED and in running order on or before Dec. 31 of this year.

The principal and interest of the bonds are payable either in New-York, London or Frankfort.

We confidently recommend the bonds to all classes of investors.

MIDLAND PACIFIC

RAILWAY

7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,

Limited to $16,373 per mile and secured by a first mortgage on a completed road running from Nebraska City, on the Missouri River, to Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska. This division has been open one year, and IS NOW EARNING MORE THAN THE INTEREST ON ITS BONDS. It is the central link of a direct East and West road now being rapidly built from Urbana, Ill., through a very rich agricultural and densely populated district the greater part of the way to Grand Island, on the Union Pacific. This new line is about 610 miles long, and much needed by the section of country which it traverses, therefore receives very liberal aid toward its construction, and the completion of the entire line is anticipated within 1873. In the meantime we shall sell the bonds only on completed road. This will make the shortest route from the Atlantic to the Pacific, it being almost an air line.

We recommend these bonds as a prime security. Coupons payable Feb. and Aug. 1, free of tax, in the City of New-York. Present price 90 and accrued interest in currency.

DAILY, WEEKLY AND SEMI-WEEKLY.

This journal is now thoroughly identified with the greatest political necessity of the hour—uncompromising warfare against all forms of corruption, whether in national or local government. For years past the TIMES has been exposing the demoralizing schemes of self-interested politicians, and its recent warfare upon the Tammany Democrats has been received with universal approval. It has adhered to the pledge given in its original prospectus, more than twenty years ago, that the public should be truly represented, and their interests faithfully guarded through its columns. Its record has been pure and honorable, and the highest aim of its proprietors is to render it more and more worthy of its past history, and of the confidence which the public repose in it. Two out of three of the original proprietors still direct its policy, and guide it on all public questions. They purpose that the TIMES shall continue to keep clear of all narrow and unworthy influences and cliques, and aim to represent the great body of the public, as distinguished from personal factions. It occupies a perfectly independent position, and is free to speak the truth on all subjects and about all men. Its greatly increased circulation throughout the country adds to its power and influence. It will continue to be a faithful exponent of Republican principles, recognizing the claims of American industry in adjusting the sources of revenue; and it will advocate with untiring energy every cause which tends to further the welfare of the people.

A very full summary of news, and many general articles of great interest, are published in the Semi-weekly editions; and in the Weekly edition there is an unabridged report of the proceedings at the Farmers' Club, an excellent summary of political information, and a great variety of matter suitable for family reading.

CAMPAIGN EDITION.

During the ensuing Presidential Canvass, we shall publish a SPECIAL WEEKLY EDITION for the convenience of those who desire the latest and most trustworthy political intelligence.

The CAMPAIGN EDITION of the NEW-YORK TIMES will be furnished to mail subscribers for the six months next ensuing, for the sum of FIFTY CENTS. All copies sent to the same Post-office to be mailed to one address.

The NEW-YORK TIMES is pre-eminently a family paper, all objectionable advertisements being rigidly excluded; and it has a constantly increasing circulation among the most respectable classes of the community.

TERMS TO MAIL SUBSCRIBERS.

The DAILY TIMES, per annum, including the Sunday edition	$12
The DAILY TIMES, per annum, exclusive of the Sunday Edition	10
The Sunday Edition, per annum	2
The EUROPEAN EDITION, per annum, postage extra.	3

SPECIAL RATES FOR THE WEEKLY AND SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES FOR 1872.

The WEEKLY TIMES, per annum	$1 00
The SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES, per annum	2 50

Subscriptions to either of our editions, except the Weekly, received for a less length of time than one year at the yearly rate.

The SEMI-WEEKLY and WEEKLY mailed one year to clergymen at the lowest club rates.

These prices are invariable. Remit in drafts on New-York or Post-office Money Orders if possible, and where neither of these can be procured send the money in a registered letter.

Notice.

We cannot notice anonymous communications. In all cases we require the writer's name and address, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot under any circumstances return rejected communications, nor can we undertake to preserve manuscripts.

To Advertisers.

☞ For the accommodation of up-town residents, advertisements for insertion in the TIMES will be received at No. 54 West 32d-st., junction of Broadway and 6th-av.; No. 308 West 23d-st., opposite Grand Opera-house, and No. 1,241 Broadway, between 30th and 31st sts., at same rates as are charged at office of publication.

☞ The NEW-YORK TIMES has opened a branch office in Brooklyn at No. 111 Fulton-st., junction of Fulton and Main, where advertisements will be received until 5 P. M.

☞ Throughout the Presidential canvass, we shall publish fuller reports of meetings and conventions in each State than any other New-York journal. Very full dispatches will be forwarded by telegraph, supplemented by careful letters. Our desire is to place before the public the latest and most trustworthy information, and we have made ample arrangements for that purpose.

The Congressional Committee appointed to inquire into the Sun's charges against Secretary ROBESON have made their report. Any one who took the trouble to read the evidence brought forward will be prepared to hear that the Committee fully exonerate Mr. ROBESON, and convict CHARLES A. DANA of being a disgusting and shameless libeler. Says the report: DANA "totally failed to produce a single witness, or any proof whatever, tending in the slightest degree to maintain any of the charges he had made, or to throw even a doubt or suspicion upon the personal character of the Secretary, and not a single fact was advanced which would have any tendency to show any such thing." The Committee also describes the Sun's articles as "malignant and wanton libels," and as the most extraordinary libels ever published in the country against a public officer, and a shameful perversion of the privileges of the Press. This is not the first time that DANA has been shown up as a reckless libeler—but it is to be hoped that on this occasion he will not be allowed to escape. It is Secretary ROBESON's duty to prosecute the offender—his duty to his family and his duty to the public. It is possible to obtain justice in such a case as this. Secretary ROBESON will be very ill-advised if he does not institute legal proceedings of the most rigorous character against his cowardly assailant.

Mr. GREELEY kept back his letter of acceptance until the very day on which the Senate agreed to the only principles he deemed it safe to talk about. He is left without a leg to stand upon. The tariff question he could not touch—that was evaded by a most dishonest trick at the Cincinnati Convention. He could promise no more in the way of "Peace, Fraternity and Mutual Good Will" than is secured by the action of the Senate yesterday. The President signed the Amnesty bill the moment it reached him—thus affording the best possible answer to the silly calumny circulated by Mr. GREELEY that he was opposed to the policy of the measure.

There can be no doubt, however, that there is one class which is determined to support Mr. GREELEY—namely, the Tammany Democrats. They are mustering behind him to a man. Everybody acquainted with local politics is well aware of this fact. Mr. GREELEY would be properly described as the "Tammany Candidate." The advocates of "honest old HORACE" unwittingly let out this secret. Thus we learn from old HORACE'S "organs" that HARRY GENET (now under an indictment) is getting up meetings in his favor, and A. OAKEY HALL is also working hard for him. We find the following in the Sun:

ANOTHER DEMOCRATIC CLUB FOR GREELEY.

To the Editor of the Sun:

SIR: By inserting the following you will confer a great favor on the members of this Association:

Resolved, That we, the members of the James P. Wilson Association, pledge ourselves to the support of Honest HORACE GREELEY.

JOHN DARROW, President.
DAVID KNIGHT, Secretary.

This Association is Tammany, but they will go their bottom dollar on HORACE.

DAVID KNIGHT, Secretary.

Instead of the word but in the last paragraph in this letter, read "therefore." The Tribune published yesterday another batch of Tammany advertisements—a sheer robbery of the public—so that it is a clear case of "support" all round.

Considering that the Republican State Convention was described by the later Franklin as an "office-holder's concern," it may be well to keep before the public the list of delegates to Philadelphia sent by that Convention:

Gerritt Smith, William Orton, of the Western Union Telegraph; James N. Matthews, of the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser; H. B. Claflin, the eminent dry-goods merchant; Gen. Stephen Moffat, of St. Lawrence County, and William F. Butler, a prominent colored man of New-York City. Their alternates are: Andrew D. White, of the Cornell University; Freeman Clarke, of Rochester; James W. Booth, of New-York City; John A. Griswold, of Troy; Gen. J. C. Robinson, of Binghamton, and W. J. Bacon, of Utica. Among the district delegates are such men as Stewart L. Woodford, William E. Dodge, Henry A. Hurlburt, Augustus Weismann and Salem H. Wales.

Does this look much like an office-holding delegation?

The Republicans of New-Jersey hold their State Convention today, and we learn from our correspondent that GREELEY will scarcely be able to muster a "corporal's guard" among the four hundred and fifty delegates. Of course he will cry out that they are "office-holders," but this will be untrue, since there are scarcely any office-holders among them. It is to the Democrats of New-Jersey—and only the corrupt among them—that the "simple-minded old man" must look for support. No office-holder is to be sent as a delegate to Philadelphia. This is the best way of meeting "honest HORACE's" cry. So far, not half a dozen office-holders have been sent to Philadelphia from all the States which have held Conventions. This is gall and wormwood to the Tammany candidate, and his friends, HARRY GENET, COCHRANE, MORRISSEY & Co.

The Senate passed a Supplementary Civil Rights bill yesterday morning, which was not what Mr. SUMNER would have had it, but which went as far as the Senate could be induced to carry it. It omits from its provisions schools, cemeteries and ferries, the application of the bill to the latter two being objected to on the score of unconstitutionality, and to the former on the ground that it would impede education at the South. This bill, with amnesty, answers two important demands made by the country upon the present Congress.

A Good Night's Work.

On Wednesday morning, after a long and tedious session, in which the resources of Parliamentary management had been taxed to their utmost to wear out the patience of the majority, the Amnesty bill was forced to a vote in the United States Senate, and passed with only two dissenting voices. The work thus accomplished will be regarded with sincere approval by the great body of the people of the country, whose feeling on the subject is very justly represented by the remarkable approach to unanimity in the vote.

The bill which passed the Senate is the House bill of May 13. It is very liberal in its provisions, and excepts only the following classes: Members of the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses, officers in the judicial, military and naval service of the United States, heads of Departments and foreign Ministers of the United States. These exceptions, we have no doubt, will meet with cordial approval nearly as extensive as that bestowed on the principle of amnesty itself. For, as we have already frequently pointed out, this bill is a practical and not a sentimental measure. As such it wisely leaves on those who betrayed the very highest trust the nation can repose in its citizens, the continued mark of their infidelity, that the fact may be made plain that if the country forgives them it does not again invite them to positions of honor. If any individual member of this class shall, by his personal conduct, give reason to believe that it is proper to remove his disabilities, Congress can still do so. And as there are, according to the most searching estimates, not more than 200 persons excepted from the bill, this may be done intelligently and safely.

When the action of the Senate was reported to the House yesterday morning, an incident occurred which forcibly illustrates the spirit of petty partisanship in which this measure has been, to a surprising extent, approached, and which now, let us hope, may come to an end. To the Democrats of the House of Representatives an opportunity presented itself of interposing a ridiculous quibble—not in the way of the bill itself, but in the way of the President's attaching his signature to it. Mr. RANDALL, of Pennsylvania, was the brilliant politician to whom this notion suggested itself, and he accordingly made a point of order that the bill, since it required a two-thirds vote, would become a law without the President's signature, and should not be sent to him. The point was not a point of order in any sense, and as a point of constitutional law it was absurd, because, with reference to disabilities, the Constitution provides that they may be removed by "a two-thirds vote of each House;" and as to "every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be necessary," the Constitution provides that it "shall be presented to the President of the United States." Of course, the objection was ignored, but in bringing it forward Mr. RANDALL only continued to the last the mean and foolish course of the President's opponents, in endeavoring to deny to him any connection with the measure he has so heartily supported.

The President signed the bill immediately upon its presentation to him. Perhaps the friends of Mr. GREELEY, who have made of amnesty the main plank to give strength to their rickety platform, will find some way to wipe out the record of yesterday's work by the Republican Congress and the Republican President, but we doubt it. Of course, they will misrepresent it, and clamor for the credit of it, as due to their plots and threatenings. But they will not mislead many persons of sense in this way, and it is persons of sense, who quietly make up their minds on the facts in the career of a party or a President, that decide elections in this country. The utmost perversion, and the bitterest personal abuse of everybody connected with the measure, will not alter the fact that it was recommended and signed by the President, and passed by the vote of every Republican Senator but two—Mr. SUMNER, who was put out by the fate of his Civil Rights bill, and Mr. NYE, who laboring under the disadvantage of an infinitesimal constituency, may be pardoned for not having felt the impulse of the overwhelming popular sentiment in favor of the measure.

We need not now recite again the benefits which may fairly be hoped for from this crowning act of the session. If we have not utterly misinterpreted the temper and tendencies of the Southern people; if the virtue of the principle of self-government has not been very grossly exaggerated; if we are not mistaken in the extent of the silent revival of patriotism throughout the country, amnesty will prove not only a safe but a beneficent measure. It certainly will be many times more likely to work well, coming from the party that maintained the nation against rebellion, on the recommendation of the General who led our armies to victory, than it would have done, had it been initiated by a Democratic, or quasi Democratic Administration. The passage of the act, indeed, leaves no excuse for the existence of the faction led by Mr. GREELEY. Nothing could be more absurd than his illusive promises made with the intent to divide and destroy the party that performs.

Strikes in Philadelphia.

The strikes among mechanics in this City are calling public attention very forcibly to the subject of strikes in general. A glance at such events among our neighbors, in a place which has probably a greater proportion of this class of laborers than any other large city in the United States, may perhaps suggest some ideas worthy of consideration.

Philadelphia, as compared in this matter with New-York, has two very marked characteristics. One of these is the much smaller number of strikes; the other is the far more comfortable condition of the workpeople. In regard to the first point—although there are no statistics from which any very exact estimate can be made—we do not think that we can be accused of exaggeration if we say that in the last ten years there have been, even in proportion to the population, at least five times as many days' work of individuals lost from strikes in New-York as in Philadelphia. Indeed, from the best information we can obtain, we should say ten times as many; but we put it at half that to be sure of being strictly within bounds. As for the more comfortable condition of the working classes there, we need hardly speak of it. A plain Philadelphia mechanic, living on ordinary wages, expects, as a general rule, to have a house to himself and his family. And, in thousands of cases, he not only lives in such a house, but owns it. It is true, his wages, reckoned merely by the number of dollars and cents, are not so high as he could get in New-York, but, reckoned by the manner in which he is able to live on them, they are commonly a great deal higher.

There appears to be a feeling of union and concord between working men and their employers in Philadelphia, far greater than we generally see here. Why this is, we are not very well able to say. Perhaps the peaceable influence of the Quaker element has something to do with it. But, whatever the cause may be, the comparative cordiality and freedom from antagonism between manufacturers and master mechanics on the one hand, and operatives and journeymen on the other, is well deserving of notice. We say "comparative," for we do not wish to be understood as intimating that difficulties between employers and the employed are altogether absent in Philadelphia. Things there have not by any means come to that pitch of perfection. But these difficulties occur much more rarely than those of a similar description do with us; and when they do occur, they are apt to be much less serious and protracted.

It is an argument of no small significance against the frequent strikes with which the community here is troubled, that the Philadelphia working men get along better without all this loss of time and loss of temper than our men do with it. A strike, even where it is entirely successful, often reminds us of the reply made to the renowned Mr. DAWKINS, when he demanded his privileges as an Englishman: "You'll get your privileges soon enough, and pepper with 'em." In the loss of time, in the suffering occasioned to their families, and in the unpleasant feeling and diminution of confidence between themselves and their employers, our working men very often get a great deal of "pepper" with their privileges. In Philadelphia, the same class of individuals, by keeping quietly at work, contrive, somehow or other, to get quite as much, and in general considerably more, of the privileges, and altogether less of the "pepper."

We by no means contend that all the difference between the comforts enjoyed by the working men in New-York and those of Philadelphia is owing to the comparative infrequency of strikes in the latter city. But we give the facts in the case, and we leave them to the consideration of those of our readers who are interested in such matters. In our view, they are highly instructive, and we believe that the lessons which may be learned from them would be of eminent use, not only in avoiding the loss and waste which these frequent strikes occasion to the community in general, but also in preventing the distress and privation which, when long continued, they are so certain to cause to the working men themselves and their families.

The Post and Senator Conkling.

The Evening Post refers us for proof of its statement that Senator CONKLING has opposed amnesty to the vote for Mr. SUMNER's Civil Rights bill, on the 9th inst. If the Post is sincere in the construction it places upon this vote, why does it not condemn Mr. SUMNER also as an opponent of amnesty? Mr. CONKLING doubtless cast his vote in perfect good faith. We know nothing about his ideas on the subject, for we have held no communication whatever with him; but it seems to us most unfair to attack Senator CONKLING alone for a vote which he gave in common with nearly all the Republican Senators.

But the Post, at the same time, accused Senator CONKLING of opposing civil service reform. We asked it to produce evidence in support of this charge also. It fails to do so, and slides off into some remarks upon the inexpediency of re-electing Senator CONKLING. Surely that is not a course worthy of the "candor" and "fair play" so constantly recommended to its contemporaries by the Post. It seems to us that we have elections enough on our hands just now—we don't know how the Post feels about it—without discussing a contest months before it is necessary to do so. Is not the din about the Presidential election enough to satisfy any reasonable paper? It is quite enough for us.

The Post dislikes—even hates—Senator CONKLING. That may or may not be a proper feeling to entertain—but we do not think it unreasonable to request of it some proof in support of very grave charges which it is constantly bringing forward. Let us stick to facts. The Post says that Mr. CONKLING opposed amnesty. We challenge it to produce its evidence; and it tells us that he voted with Senator SUMNER—in itself a disproof of its charge. The Post also says that Mr. CONKLING has opposed civil service reform. We must say that this is one of the most unfounded and unjust charges ever brought against a public man. It directly reverses the real course of Senator CONKLING, and, therefore, is doubly an injury to him. These are the two points on which the Post assailed the Senator last Tuesday. Yesterday it replied to our request for evidence respecting them by producing fresh charges. It is like the man who accused another of burglary, and, upon failing to prove that charge, turned round and said, "Well, he may not be guilty of that, but I am quite sure he don't pay his debts." Let us settle the two specific charges brought forward by the Post on Tuesday before going into the others. We ask the Post to do this because it lays much stress upon the necessity of rendering justice to public men, and we should like to have its precepts enforced by its example. If the facts are against Senator CONKLING, we will admit in a moment that the Post is right. But let us keep to the record, and not fly off to fresh charges when the original ones cannot be substantiated.

A New Operatic Treasure.

To discover a new tenor of the veritable first-class, is to gain wealth indeed; and when Signor ITALA CAMPANINI came out the other night at Drury-lane Theatre, in Gennaro, this discovery was made. Hardly any one had ever heard of the artist before, yet his triumph seems to have been almost as complete as that of KEAN, on the same historic boards, when the pit "rose at" the man whose very name was unknown to them on the preceding day. Signor CAMPANINI is just now the talk of all London. The journals are studded with his praise, and the clubs and drawing-rooms echo with congratulations on his advent. A new tenor of the highest rank is clearly held in the English capital to be a very important person. BISMARCK and THIERS, and NAPOLEON III., and almost every other topic, except, indeed, the Treaty of Washington, is overshadowed for the moment by CAMPANINI. Never, perhaps, in the history of the lyric stage, has a debut so unheralded been attended by such brilliant success; and we hasten to acknowledge an event which, for lyric reasons of which we have lately had some earnest, is pretty sure to be of as much importance to America, ere long, as it is to Europe.

We gather from the accounts that Signor CAMPANINI is a thorough Italian artist of the old-fashioned school. The two great points that, since the rise of VERDI, have been made most of in tenors, and so have become most conspicuous, may be set down as power and facility. Rough strength, that is to say, enabling the singer to make a great noise, together with the "staying" faculty to keep it up; and the mastery of florid vocalization. These, it is hardly necessary to say, were not the most marked characteristics of MARIO, in whom the utmost evenness and sweetness of tone, supreme graciousness of delivery, great purity and distinctness of enunciation, and rare taste and fidelity to nature, in dealing with dramatic situation, were much more prominent qualities. Such, too, are the excellencies claimed for Signor CAMPANINI; and hence, it is argued, that the good old school of Italian singing is "coming in" again, after having so long been ousted through the baleful influence of VERDI. The new tenor is young, attractive in person, handsome in feature, and, what is of even greater consequence, possesses a graceful and unconstrained stage presence and action. His dramatic abilities are, in fact, no less highly complimented by the critics than his vocal gifts. This becomes significant of decided merit when it is remembered that the Lucrezia Borgia by whom Signor CAMPANINI had to act, and with whose powers his own must needs, therefore, have been contrasted, was no less an artist than Mlle. TIETJENS. To produce a striking effect in Gennaro, especially at the ends of the last two acts of the opera, in presence of such a Lucrezia, implies the possession of nothing short of genius.

It will gratify the many who delight in "power," and who prefer a tenor of force to one of graciousness, to know that the new pearl of price is not lacking in the former quality. A trustworthy writer tells us that the four notes leading up to B flat can be sung by Signor CAMPANINI with ringing force, and that here again he suffered nothing in competing with the exceptionally vigorous organ of Mlle. TIETJENS. He sings boldly from the chest, and it is asserted that the range of his voice equals its quality. The sole doubt is, from the nature of DONIZETTI's music in "Lucrezia," whether Signor CAMPANINI has flexibility for florid passages. It does not follow because a singer is unfit for VERDI that he can therefore cope with ROSSINI. Still, there is something reassuring in the fact that the new tenor has successfully tackled WAGNER; since it was his impersonation of the hero in the recent triumphant production of "Lohengrin" at Bologna and Florence that drew the attention of the London managers. They have in any case, without question, secured a great prize, and one that will relieve us henceforth, it is to be hoped, of the oft-heard and doleful assertion that we shall never hear a successor to MARIO.

A Candid Opinion.

We like Gen. Grant; but we care far more for Republican ascendency than for any man's personal fortunes. It is in our view of great importance that the opposition shall be kept out of power, while it is of comparatively small moment that A or B should tenant the White House. For a Democratic national triumph means a restoration to power of those who deserted their seats in Congress and their places under the last Democratic President to plunge the country into the Red Sea of Secession and Rebellion. Though you paint an inch thick, to this complexion you must come at last. The brain, the heart, the soul, of the present Democratic Party is the rebel element at the South, with its Northern allies and sympathizers. It is rebel at the core today, hardly able to reconcile the defeats of LEE, JOHNSTON, BRAGG, HOOD and PRICE, and the consequent downfall of its beloved Confederacy, with its traditional faith in Divine Providence. It would hail the election of a Democratic President in 1872 as a virtual reversal of the Appomattox surrender. It would come into power with the hate, the chagrin, the wrath, the mortification, of ten bitter years, to impel and guide its steps. It would devote itself to taking off or reducing tax after tax until the Treasury was deprived of the means of paying interest on the national debt, and would hail the tidings of national bankruptcy with unalloyed gladness and unconcealed exultation. Whatever chastisement may be deserved by our national sins, we must hope that this disgrace and humiliation will be spared us.

—The above is from the Tribune—obviously from the pen of Mr. GREELEY—of February, 1871. We commend it to the careful attention of our readers. Is it less true in 1872 than it was a year ago? How do the Democrats like the description of them given by the present candidate for their votes?

The Shakespeare Monument.

"The flighty purpose ne'er is overtook," says SHAKESPEARE, "unless the deed go with it;" and those who remember how many years have passed since the Shakespeare Monument was first resolved upon and subscribed for may almost doubt the fact that the bronze statue is in its place at last, and that the ceremony of inaugurating the monument is really to take place today. Such is the case, nevertheless, and those who would assist at this memorable ceremony should present themselves in the Central Park at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at the south end of the Mall, a little east of the main walk. We are sorry to hear that the pedestal has not arrived, as was hoped, from Scotland, and that a temporary substitute will consequently have to be used today. However, in all other respects everything is finished, and the occasion bids fair to be a highly interesting one.

It is understood that Mr. WARD, the sculptor, is to unvail the statue, aided by Mr. MOULD, the architect of the pedestal. Mr. W. C. BRYANT is to deliver the oration of the day, and Mr. H. G. STEBBINS, as President of the Department of Public Parks, is to make the speech of acceptance on behalf of the people. Besides these formalities, Mr. EDWIN BOOTH is to recite a poem, called "Shakespeare," written by Mr. R. H. STODDARD, and a band of one hundred performers, led by Mr. THEODORE THOMAS, will play a variety of music, chiefly illustrative of SHAKESPEARE's dramas. Galleries have been erected for the convenience of the speakers and invited guests, and it is likely that the inauguration will draw together a numerous as well as a distinguished company. The different arrangements seem to have been made with much taste and discretion, and we doubt not, they will be carried out in a manner worthy of the illustrious poet they celebrate, and of a people by whom his fame is so cherished and honored.

MINOR TOPICS.

When our civil war was ended, there was a feeling of regret expressed by very many that no medals or other honors were awarded to officers and men who had distinguished themselves in the army or navy for acts of conspicuous bravery. Not having anything of the sort to give, the Government naturally did not give it, but the Emperor WILLIAM has lately shown how easily such a difficulty can be avoided. That thrifty German has just presented several of his officers with captured French cannon, as rewards for valor in the field. Now we captured quantities of cannon from the rebels, and had the idea occurred to us, we might have distributed them among our soldiers. The man who captured a regimental color might have been rewarded with a twelve-inch mortar, and other acts of bravery would have been fitly recompensed with thirty, twenty-four, twelve and six-pound guns. To be sure, these would have been inconvenient if their owners had attempted to wear them on their persons, and it is not clear what else the possessors would have done with them. However, it is hardly to be supposed that the German Emperor has not thought of some use to which his gifts can be put, and what German soldiers can do American soldiers could likewise have done.

The Methodist General Conference has just elected eight new Bishops. Among the newly-elected Bishops are three editors, a fact which will probably be quoted as an evidence of the consideration in which journalists is held. It should be remembered, however, that the editors of the Methodist official papers—of which there are a very large number—are clergymen detailed for the work by the Church authorities, and hence any Methodist Minister may be called upon at some time to assume the duties of editorship. The successful candidates elected yesterday are nearly all men of eminence, not only in the Methodist Church, but in the entire religious community of the country. Three of the number are from this State—Bishops FOSTER, ANDREWS and PECK—the latter being, perhaps, the leading clergyman of the Central New-York Conference.

The car-canvasser, whom the TIMES described a few days ago, has since made but one or two appearances. It is not to be supposed that a person so dull as to be unaware of the insolence of which he is guilty can have felt the prick of shame, and resolved upon self-reformation. It is more probable that some bold man has resented his insults, and that his nefarious career has thus received a temporary check. Whatever may be the reason, we should congratulate ourselves upon even this brief respite from his importunities. Within the past week he has made only one or two attacks upon the peace of passengers, and in each instance he was evidently acting in the interests of Mr. GREELEY, since the result of his canvass was in that eccentric person's favor. It is a curious fact that the car-canvasser's election returns vary inversely as the real votes polled at the proper polls. Thus, in 1864, railway passengers were represented as nearly unanimously in favor of MCCLELLAN, and in 1868, one would have fancied, from the statements of the car-canvasser, that people traveled expressly in order to vote for SEYMOUR. The explanation of this fact is probably that exasperated passengers angrily profess precisely what they do not believe—or else that the car-canvasser "cooks" his returns.

Gen. URICH, whom it was lately the fashion in France to style the heroic defender of Strasbourg, has been found guilty by Court-martial of having surrendered when he was capable of having prolonged the defense of the city. In spite of this decision, public sentiment, which has heretofore been unanimous in favor of the gallant URICH, will probably continue to regard him as a hero and faithful officer. It is probable that the real reason why URICH is found guilty is to afford a safe precedent for the conviction of BAZAINE for the unnecessary surrender of Metz. The present French Government has shown a disposition to crush BAZAINE, as one of the few steadfast Imperialists among the higher army officers. His conviction will be sure to be regarded by all Napoleonists as a punishment for his Imperialist opinions, and the best reply that could be made to such an accusation would be to point to the condemnation of URICH, whose loyalty to the Republic is above suspicion.

With the warm weather, the ravages of the peripatetic boy who infests railway-cars to prey upon passengers grow fiercer and more intolerable. He is no longer content with dropping undesirable newspapers on your lap, with demanding that you purchase prize packages, or strenuously insisting that you fall a victim to his hideous pies. He now pervades the train laden with decayed bananas, shriveled apples, and a warm, thickened fluid, called in mockery "ice-water," which is dispensed in tin cups of forbidding aspect. Ice-water should be kept in tanks in every car, and thus the only excuse for the peripatetic boy's existence removed.

The person who commits suicide by jumping from a ferry-boat is an unqualified nuisance. He always creates a painful excitement among the passengers, and usually succeeds in causing a long delay while those in charge of the boat are trying to save his miserable life. Even were he unable to commit suicide in any other way, the perpetration of so improper an act in the presence of women and children would still be inexcusable. Suicide in public is a grossly indecent act, and is, in this City at all events, wholly unnecessary. There are so many opportunities in the way of poisons, pistols, and razors offered to the man who wishes to kill himself, that he has no excuse whatever for jumping from a crowded ferry-boat, as a rude fellow did on Tuesday night on the Thirty-fourth-street ferry. If he insists upon drowning himself, he can easily jump from any dock in the City after dark, and no one will see him. Public sentiment ought to frown upon those ill-bred fellows who shamelessly kill themselves in full view of scores of helpless spectators.

TENNESSEE.

Character of the Recent Republican State Convention—German Republicans—Absence of Office-Holders—The Colored Vote.

From an Occasional Correspondent.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Thursday, May 16, 1872.

The Republican State Convention of Tennessee, held in this city, yesterday, in point of numbers, ability and patriotism, strengthened by a common feeling of harmony, has never yet been equalled. The body comprised the best talent in our State, men, who on common occasions, do not find time or take the trouble to attend political gatherings. Men representing all colors and nationalities, were here, and I am most proud to say that in this State, in which the German element is a small fraction of the population, many Germans were there, thus showing to the American people that they have not deserted the great party of freedom and human rights. Four Germans are appointed delegates to the Philadelphia National Convention. This looks as if behind these four stood a great number of their countrymen, satisfied with the Administration of that great and good man, Gen. GRANT. When Senator SCHURZ comes among the Tennessee Germans he will find the only ones that shout for GREELEY are the rebel Germans, or those who never yet voted a Republican ticket. The German delegates from Tennessee to the Cincinnati Convention were self-constituted, or appointed by five or ten Germans, who are just as apt to vote for GRANT as for GREELEY on the final round.

ORGANIZATION AND WORK.

Our Convention represented more counties than the Democratic Convention, held a week before. Our delegates were regularly appointed by County Conventions, and instructed to attend only to matters connected with the Presidential election, and a thorough organization of the party in this State. Hon. J. B. FRIERSON, than whom a purer patriot never breathed, presided over the deliberations, and Hon. HORACE MAYNARD and others were chosen a Committee on Platform. The Convention instructed our delegates to Philadelphia to vote for GRANT and MAYNARD. Gen. GRANT is the choice of our party here, and not until ingratitude possesses the hearts of the people will his great services be forgotten. The greater the cry against him by the Democratic amalgamation the greater will his vote be, and I assure you, although in some portions of this State it is absolutely unsafe to be a Grant man, yet if force is used to prevent Republicans from voting force will be repelled by force. Our citizens are determined to vote this time in spite of intimidation, and if Tennessee, the banner State of Southern loyalty, does not give its electoral vote to the National Republican ticket, then your writer does not read the signs aright.

NO OFFICE-HOLDERS.

It is charged by our enemies that all delegates to Philadelphia are office-holders. Our State Convention has not sent one single Federal office-holder to the National Convention. All Republicans in Tennessee are for GRANT, and the Liberal movement is managed by those who, during the war, were open, and since then, passive enemies of the Union.

NO DISSENSIONS.

The chagrin of the Democratic Party at the harmonious action of our Convention may only be imagined. It was their highest wish that we should nominate a Gubernatorial ticket, so they could cease the strife among themselves, which is at fever heat just now; but we concluded to postpone that business until the Democrats on one side, who support BROWN for Governor, and the Liberals, who don't wish to work in Democratic harness, have literally torn each other to pieces, an event that can hardly be averted. With one accord, and with a feeling of supreme devotion to Republican principles, did our Convention transact all its business, and had in six hours completed its labors. There was no factious dissension, as in days gone by. The Republicans of Tennessee have discovered, to their sorrow, that they threw away victory in the past, but are determined to stand shoulder by shoulder in the future, to redeem this great State from the misery of Democratic misrule.

THE NEGRO VOTE.

The night of the Convention a Republican love-feast was held at Liberty Hall, (the Convention itself was held at the Capitol,) and as the African Methodist Episcopal Church hold a Conference at this city at present, consisting of four hundred colored delegates, representing every Southern State, it was determined to invite some of the gentlemen to speak, and well did they speak, (these redeemed freemen,) in language of living fire, each pledging their several States for GRANT—at any rate, the entire colored vote—and if Mr. GREELEY has any hopes of getting the vote of the colored men of the South, he had better come among them, and present his past record and his former services in their cause, and if he does, they will thank him for his goodness with affection and sincerity, but they will tell him they cannot trust him in the future, as he has fallen upon evil times, and keeps wretched company, such company as cannot be trusted with the liberty of four millions of people living in a country, still inhabited by men, who under the guise of accepting the Cincinnati platform, would but too soon forget its teachings, and try to repeal those immortal amendments to the Constitution which, when properly enforced, observed and respected, can alone give that protection to the colored citizen, against the encroachments of Democratic hatred, a hatred not yet abated.

X

GENERAL AMNESTY.

Was President Grant Opposed to It?

More than six years having elapsed since the last hostile gun was fired between the armies then arrayed, the one for the perpetuation, the other for the destruction of the Union, it may well be considered whether it is not now time that the disabilities imposed by the Fourteenth Amendment should be removed. That amendment does not exclude the ballot, and only imposes the disability to hold office upon certain classes. When the purity of the ballot is secure, majorities are sure to elect officers reflecting the views of the majority. I do not see the advantage or propriety of excluding men from office, merely because they were, before the rebellion, of standing and character sufficient to be elected to positions requiring them to take oaths to support the Constitution, and admitting to eligibility those entertaining precisely the same views, but of less standing in their communities. It may be said that the former violated an oath, while the latter did not. The latter did not have it in their power to do so. If they had taken the oath it cannot be doubted that they would have broken it as did the former class. If there are any great criminals distinguished above all others for the part they took in opposition to the Government, they might in the judgment of Congress be excluded from such an amnesty. This subject is recommended to your careful consideration. The condition of the Southern States is, unhappily, not such as all true patriotic citizens would like to see. Social ostracism, for opinion's sake, personal violence, or threats toward persons entertaining political views opposed to those entertained by the majority of the old citizens, prevents immigration and the flow of much-needed capital into the States lately in rebellion. It will be a happy condition of the country when the old citizens of these States will take an interest in public affairs, promulgate ideas honestly entertained, vote for men representing their views, and tolerate the same freedom of expression and of the ballot in those entertaining different political convictions.—From the President's Annual Message, December, 1871.

Reception of Rev. R. S. Storrs, Jr., in Brooklyn.

An enthusiastic reception was given by the congregation of the Church of the Pilgrims, last evening, to Rev. R. S. STORRS, Jr., who returned on Monday from a trip of eighteen months' duration in Europe. It was held in the school-room attached to the church, which was handsomely decorated with flowers and evergreens. Shortly after 8 o'clock Dr. STORRS arrived, and was welcomed by the Committee, and in the course of half an hour the room was crowded with a fashionable gathering of ladies and gentlemen. At 10 o'clock, the members of the congregation were formally introduced to Dr. STORRS who responded in a feeling address, expressing his happiness at returning to his charge, and describing briefly the scenes he had visited while abroad. Dr. STORRS is staying, for the present, at the Mansion House, and is in the daily receipt of a large number of congratulatory visits.

THE WORKING MEN.

Additional Particulars About the Strike in This City.

The Post-Office Men, Longshoremen, Pattern-Makers, Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths and Others Demand the Eight-Hour System.

The movements of the various trade societies indicate that it is the intention of all trades to follow the plan of those engaged in the different branches of building, and demand eight hour's as a day's labor. The success of the carpenters has encouraged the others to make the attempt; but as there are many trades in which men are employed on piece work, it is not likely that such artizans will feel inclined to have twenty per cent. of their wages taken from them, especially those who find it hard work enough to earn a living with ten hours' daily labor.

The Cabinet-Makers, Wood-Carvers and Upholsterers.

The Executive Committee of the united cabinet-makers, upholsterers and wood-carvers, now on strike, were in session yesterday at the Teutonia Assembly Rooms, receiving reports from the subcommittees. Twenty-six additional firms were reported as having conceded the eight-hour system. It was reported that the Committee of One Hundred appointed to call on the men employed in Stern's establishment, in Attorney-street, had, at the request of the proprietors, been dispersed by the Police of the Tenth Precinct. The reading of this report caused considerable excitement; it was stated that the men had been very roughly handled by the Police; that some of them had been clubbed and had their coats torn from their backs in the scuffle. A committee was at once appointed to represent the matter to the Police Commissioners. With the exception of this incident, the strike has proceeded peaceably.

A letter was received from Chicago announcing that the men employed in the cabinet-making business there are also organizing for the eight-hour strike. A delegation of cabinet-makers and others from Williamsburg appeared, and reported that the men employed in the same trade there are also organizing, and a strike will probably commence today. A committee was appointed to go to Williamsburg to address a meeting to be held in the evening. Printed blanks have been circulated among the various firms, in which the demands of the men are set forth and the signatures of the bosses requested as proof of their consent.

The German Painters.

The German house-painters, numbering about 200, Mr. Werner presiding, met at No. 34 Avenue A last night, to organize for the eight-hour strike. Enthusiastic addresses on the subject were delivered by several of the men present, and by Mr. Kellett, one of a delegation of the English-speaking branch of the trade, who have already introduced the eight-hour labor system in some twenty establishments. A resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote that the strike for the reform shall be begun today, and a committee to conduct the strike was formed. The terms are $3 50 for eight hours' work per day, the same rate paid heretofore for ten hours' work per day.

Meeting of the Pattern-Makers.

The pattern-makers of this City held a meeting at the Germania Assembly Rooms, last evening, to organize for a strike. After some debate, it was determined to call a mass-meeting of the trade at the rooms on Friday evening, and take the sense of the trade on the question. An executive committee was appointed pro tem. to make the necessary arrangements for the meeting. The men of this trade number about 400, exclusive of those working in Brooklyn, whom it is proposed to include in the movement.

The Wheelwrights and Blacksmiths.

A meeting of the wheelwrights and blacksmiths was held last evening at Military Hall, with the view to organize for a strike in favor of the Eight-hour law. J. J. Barrett occupied the chair, Thomas Doran acting as Secretary, and after a good deal of debate it was resolved to admit the carriage wheelwrights and blacksmiths into the Society, so that by combination the strike might be a success. They intend to hold one other meeting before declaring the strike commenced.

The Sash and Blind-Makers.

The strike of the sash and blind-makers has proved a success. Yesterday afternoon the employers, with the exception of Mr. Livingston and Mr. Hall, agreed to the proposed terms, and this morning the men return to the shops on the eight-hour system, and no reduction of wages. This evening the men will meet at Military Hall, to wind up the strike.

The Show-Case Makers.

The show-case makers, numbering ninety, composed exclusively of Germans, met at the Teutonia Assembly Rooms yesterday afternoon, Michael Zall presiding, when action was taken for joining in the general eight-hour strike, and an Executive Committee was appointed. Committees will be sent out today to the employers to notify them of the demands of the men.

Meeting of Operative Masons.

The New-York Benevolent Society of Operative Masons held a secret session last evening in Demilt Hall. Delegates from the Brooklyn masons were present. The following resolution was adopted: "That no member of the Society shall work more than eight hours from and after the 23d inst."

Strikers Threatening an Employer.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a delegation of nearly 200 cabinet-makers, on strike, visited the establishment of Mr. Alex. Steins, No. 202 Attorney-street, and demanded that he should sign an agreement promising not to employ his men for more than eight hours a day. Mr. Steins refused to sign any such agreement, when one of the strikers threatened to clear out the shop, workmen, tools, stock and all. Mr. Steins sent a messenger to the Thirteenth Precinct Station-house, corner of Attorney and Delancey streets, and Capt. Charles McDonnell and a platoon of men starting out soon dispersed the strikers.

The Public Works and Park Laborers.

A secret meeting of delegates from the laborers engaged on the public works and the various parks, was held last evening at Cosmopolitan Hall, corner of East Broadway and Catharine-street, for the purpose of effecting an organization to inforce the same demands on the City authorities as had been so successfully demanded by the carpenters and others connected with the building trade. The meeting was fairly attended, but what result was attained could not be ascertained, as all information was refused to the Press.

A New Claim from the Men Employed on the Post-Office Building.

A secret meeting of the laborers employed on the new Post-office was held last evening, at No. 361 Broome-street. No positive information could be gained of the proceedings, but it was understood that a committee was appointed to go to Washington and petition Congress that the men who have been working on the Post-office building ten hours a day during the past two years, and while the Eight-hour law has been in operation, be paid for the extra time. They claim that they have been practically defrauded of their proper rate of wages. It was said that the meeting contributed the money necessary to pay the expenses of the Committee.

The Longshoremen, or Stevedores.

No decided action has been yet taken by the longshoremen, or stevedores, of the City in regard to joining in the general eight-hour strike, but the matter is earnestly discussed by them, and some action having this end in view may be anticipated at an early date. General meetings, in which the question has been debated, have been held recently. A strike of these men would seriously embarrass commercial interests for a time, in the delay occasioned in the debarkation of goods from our shipping. The Longshoremen's Protective Union is the most active in the present agitation.

"The Strike" in Long Island City.

The influences of the New-York strike have reached Long Island City, and yesterday the stone-cutters in the various yards demanded a reduction in their hours of labor to eight, and $4 per day wages. Their pay for ten hours has been $4 50, or forty-five cents per hour. Their new demand is equal to fifty cents per hour. Two of the yards in Blissville yielded to the strikers, and work was resumed there. Some of the yards in Hunter's Point have not yet complied with the demand. Bricklayers are receiving $4 for eight hours' labor in this locality.

ALBANY AFFAIRS.

Two of the Rapid Transit Bills Signed by the Governor—Political Complication Concerning the Brooklyn Health Department.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Albany, May 22.—The Governor this afternoon signed the Vanderbilt Rapid Transit bill, also the rapid transit scheme known as "Swaine's Three-tier Road," running on the west side of the town, through blocks, from the Battery to Harlem River. The bill allowing the Harlem Railroad Company to run horse-cars through various streets, known as the Harlem Extension, was also signed today. The Gilbert Elevated Railroad, the last and best of the quick transit bills that passed the Legislature, is still under advisement.

BILLS BEFORE THE GOVERNOR.

About 125 bills yet remain in the hands of the Governor, who promises to dispose of them all in the next ten days. The bill to reduce the fare on the New-Haven Railroad, within the limits of this State, which was supposed to have passed in the last hours of the session, turns out to have failed, with many others. An amendment was made to the bill in the Senate, which was not concurred in by the Assembly for want of time. This is the bill that Gov. Jewell, of Connecticut, entered his protest against.

THE BROOKLYN HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

The Democratic portion of the Brooklyn delegation, headed by Jacobs, were up here yesterday urging the Governor not to sign the bill creating a Health Department for that city. The only arguments they could advance were, that the Republican portion of the patronage of the Department was likely to fall into the hands of Grant rather than Greeley Republicans. Whether this consideration will have sufficient weight with Gov. Hoffman to induce him to withhold his signature and thus leave Brooklyn without a Health Department remains to be seen. The same arguments are being used to persuade the Governor to withhold his signature from the bill reorganizing the Emigrant Commission.

CUBA.

The Release of the Havana Students—Mysterious Proceedings—How the Volunteers were Foiled—Trouble in Matanzas.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Havana, Saturday, May 18, 1872.

The week just ended has been one of intense excitement, though so far the threatened outbreaks have been happily prevented. On Sunday morning at 3 o'clock, two steam-launches belonging to the Spanish Navy dropped quietly below the guard-ship and took up a position near the steps leading to the crossing from the Punta to the foot of the Morro Castle. Everything was silent and but two or three persons were seen moving about, although a close search would have discovered several police officers, the acting Captain-General, Gov. Moreno, and a number of staff officers in the immediate vicinity. The steam-launches were each armed with a rifled twelve-pounder, and one had a guard of fifty armed marines. Your correspondent, who had been informed of the affair, sat on the broken wall overlooking the landing-steps, a police commissary being near by, watching for any mischief which might come from the Cuba or Havana streets. But not a sound was heard except the hoarse cries of the sentries on the Cabaña and Morro forts, shouting their alerta, or the unmelodious and distant wail of some night watchman announcing to the sound-sleeping citizen or belated brawler that it was 3 o'clock and fair weather. Gen. Ceballos stood at the corner of the Penitentiary as one of his aides went to the private entrance leading to the offices of the Warden. Immediately afterward a number of persons were seen to come out and move rapidly in squads of threes and fives to the landing-steps. In less than three minutes about fifty persons were seen on the landing-steps, of whom thirty-nine embarked in one of the steam-launches. These were the thirty-three students pardoned by order of the King, four Spanish Navy officers, an Adjutant of the acting Captain-General, and Gov. Moreno. They had hardly entered the boat, when she was shoved off, the little screw began to revolve, and, convoyed by the other launch, both steamed rapidly up the bay alongside of the Spanish iron-clad Zaragossa, where all hands were wide awake. The vessel was in full battle trim, with nettings up and prepared to repel boarders. Steam was up and the hose were connected with the boilers so as to throw streams of scalding water. The students went on board, and were shown to their quarters, the officers giving up half of their rooms to accommodate them. The crowd which remained at the Punta landing had scattered in the meanwhile, Gen. Ceballos waiting at the Plaza de Armas for the return of Gov. Moreno, who soon made his appearance and reported everything quiet and safe. Both then passed into the palace through the stable entrance, and the volunteers on guard knew not that either had been absent. At 7 in the morning the "Bloody Fifth" came on guard, and Ramon Herrera, their Colonel, was seen drinking with some of his men after relieving the Fourth Battalion. All were happy in their innocence, when a boatman came up and informed them of what had occurred during the night. A few elegant expressions were used, but even the Fifth Battalion was not brave or ruffianly enough to make a noise or to try to take the iron-clad by storm. The volunteers as a rule are perfectly satisfied with the liberation of the boys. The students will leave on the German steamer Saxonia and the French steamer Louisiana for Santander, in Spain, and thence they will probably go to some other country in Europe.

TROUBLE IN MATANZAS.

But while this question was being settled, other incidents were occurring in Matanzas. When the news reached this place, a number of young men determined to celebrate the release of the students by a dinner, and, Cuban like, they spoke about it. Consequently the volunteers soon got wind of their intention. They placed spies about the dining-room, but nothing was said, and when the toast was proposed, "A happy voyage to our young friends," somebody shouted in, "You had better take care else you may be compelled to join them." One of the party bolder than the rest cried back, "What insolent person is this who insults people without showing his face." What happened afterward is not easy to understand. Some say that the volunteers rushed in and assaulted the young Cubans; others that a young man flung a plate at the head of one of the waiters, calling him a stupid paton, ("bigfoot," a nickname given to Spaniards;) a third version is that the toast was proposed, "A happy end to our present troubles," and a fourth version says that a man who was slightly intoxicated observed: "In a short while no students will be released, because there will not be anybody to imprison them." Whichever story may have been the correct one, the result was the organization of a drum-head Court-martial, which met yesterday morning at 7 o'clock. Up to the hour of the departure of the steamer, the result of the deliberations had not been made public. The Court-martial is composed of army officers, and not of volunteers, which is a great guarantee to the young men accused, Lieut.-Col. Palleschi being the presiding officer, and a civilian lawyer, named Manuel Cardenal, acting as legal adviser and Judge Advocate. The names of the accused are Emilio Garcia, Manuel Madruga, Bruno Dominguez, Simon Duarte, Camilo Sanchez, Rafael Cabrera, Joaquin Cabrera, Rafael Soto, Antonio Oliva, Domingo Rodrigues, alias Picadura, and Gabino Perez.

QUASIMODO.

The Lowden Malpractice Case—Dr. Gyles Held to Answer.

Coroner Young yesterday concluded the inquest in the case of Mrs. Mary Ann Lowden, late of No. 228 Thompson-street, whose death from malpractice at the hands of Dr. G. R. Gyles, No. 112 Ninth-avenue, has been already noticed in the Times.

Mr. Thomas Trimble, of No. 713 Sixth-avenue, the livery-stable keeper, who was suspected of complicity in procuring the abortion, was the first witness examined, and deposed that he had been acquainted with the Lowden family for five or six years, and had often taken the deceased out riding; he had been acquainted with Dr. Gyles for several years.

The jury rendered a verdict against Gyles, and he was committed to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury. Dr. Gyles is 40 years of age and a native of Ireland, and lives at No. 417 West Twenty-third-street. A motion to admit him to bail was denied by the Coroner.

PHILADELPHIA.

Arrangements for the National Republican Convention—Two Halls Secured—The Proposed Decorations.

From the Philadelphia Press, May 22.

The Committee of Arrangements for the National Republican Convention have spent many an anxious hour in consultation and consideration of the different plans proposed, and have at last definitely engaged not only the Academy of Music, but the Horticultural Hall. Both buildings will be decorated in front with the national colors, so entwined and enfolded as to almost conceal the modest masonry from sight, while interspersed among the flags will be the emblems of the different States. On the east side of Broad-street, and opposite to each of the edifices, will be placed two immense poles, connected with the buildings by numerous strong ropes, from which latter will depend gayly-colored banners representing the coats-of-arms of the different States and Territories, and relieved by hundreds of smaller flags of the National Stars and Stripes, emblematic of the glory of that country for which so many thousands of martyrs have given their lives and so many hundreds of millions of treasure been expended.

Entering the Academy of Music, we will find the rear of the stage fitted up with a huge platform, upon which will be seats and desks for 300 reporters, to accommodate the great numbers of the fraternity expected from all parts of the country. The parquet and parquet circle will be reserved for the delegates and alternates, while the orchestra will be covered with a platform, upon which will be stationed the clerks, tellers, secretaries, and other sub-officers of the Convention. In the body of the house the different delegations will be designated by small banners of blue silk trimmed with gold, and bearing the name of the State or Territory of the delegation in gilt letters. The banners are in the style of a standard, and from each pendant hangs a gold bullion tassel. The fronts of the tiers of the Academy will be decorated with the national emblem, and draped in our country's colors. The coats-of-arms of the different States, all newly painted, will also be placed at conspicuous points around the column abutments. Hanging from the centre of the front arch of the stage will be a grand combination representation of our national emblems, new and unique in design. It will be in the shape of a huge shield, displaying the sea and shipping in the distance; nearer will be rising hills, at the base of which will be painted smoking iron foundries, and a railroad and train of cars. Still nearer will be sloping fields, with harvest and plowing scenes. In the immediate foreground, and hovering over and protecting all by his extended wings, will be an immense eagle, emblem of America, perched upon a rock, signifying the solidity of our institutions and the power that rests upon them. The whole of this beautiful allegory will be surmounted with a colossal frame, molded upon which will be the paraphernalia of the army and navy, and also groups of national characters in design. Over all will extend a grand streamer, with the words, "E Pluribus Unum." The whole of this great pictorial sketch will cover an area of from thirty to forty square feet. The Academy and Horticultural Hall will also be beautifully decorated with flowers. The side-rooms of the Academy, and also Horticultural Hall will be used for committee purposes, and no pains or expense will be spared to fit them up in a style to correspond with the elaborate and expensive decorations of the main halls.

Other preparations are still being made, among which will be prominent one for a grand and impressive tableau when the nomination for President is officially declared. The precise character of this the committee prefer to leave unknown for the present.

Amusements—Mr. Colby's Benefit Concert.

The concert by which Mr. George W. Colby benefited, attracted a numerous audience to Irving Hall, last evening. The liberality and variety of its programme afforded great pleasure. Almost all the selections were interesting, and several produced an unusually felicitous impression. Few performances in the concert-room are more effective and creditable than Mrs. Zelda Seguin's singing of Thomas' ballad called "Apart;" few could be more successful in satisfying the critical hearer, and in diffusing much merriment than the animated recital of a duo-bouffe from "Crispino" by Miss Graziella Ridgway and Signor Ferranti, and no pianist's execution is more diversified and brilliant than that of Mr. Jas. M. Wehli, who contributed to the entertainment his own composition on motives from "Lurline." Other artists co-operated with those already named in gratifying Mr. Colby's friends. The rich contralto voice of Miss Henne, the sympathetic tones of Mme. de Ryther, an exceptionally gifted lady, and the talent of Mme. Salvotti, Miss Pauline Nininger, Mrs. M. I. Elder, and Mrs. Bowler, and of Messrs. Simpson, Macdonald, Drayton, Bowler, Seguin and Keith, lent additional charm to the concert. The accompaniments were supplied by Mr. A. Reiff, Jr., and Mr. Colby.

Serenade to Hon. W. Whitbeck—He Explains.

About two thousand of the constituents of Hon. W. A. Whitbeck assembled at East-side Association Hall last evening, and from thence, in company with the Seventh Regiment band, proceeded to his residence in Fifth-avenue, and serenaded him. In response to the cheers of the crowd, Mr. Whitbeck, after thanking them for the compliment, said:

It is charged that the Legislature has done nothing, and that it has been a failure. I do not think such is a fair charge, and you will agree with me when I say that it accomplished some good results. It took action on 1,800 bills, and passed 900, besides making several important investigations, among which was the commencement of the impeachment of the Judges. Some of the bills passed were of great importance. Among them were eight city charters, two of which were for the City of New-York, and I suppose it is because we failed to pass either of those charters that we are blamed. I must tell you that I voted against the charter of the Committee of Seventy, an act which I was sorry to perform, for I was elected as a Reformer and as a representative of the Committee of Seventy; but still, after a careful study of the several parts of the bill, my conscience and my duty to my constituents would not allow me to do otherwise. I went to Albany as a non-party man, and fulfilled my trust in every single particular to the best of my judgement. I introduced twenty bills, and those of local interest, I am pleased to say, were passed on their merits. I do not believe in lobbying. The bill I took most interest in was the Fourth-avenue "Sink the Track bill." We had a great struggle over this bill, which finally ended in a compromise, by which the people get all they sought, excepting, perhaps, that the Grand Central Depot is to remain as it is. There are to be four tracks between Forty-second-street and the Harlem River, and the track is to be arched the whole distance, besides other benefits of which you are all aware, and I believe that although the City has to pay out a certain sum of money, yet during the seventeen years Mr. Vanderbilt holds the lease the City will receive four-fold for the sum it pays out. The work will give employment to hundreds of working men, and that is another reason why we should rejoice that we are at last to have rapid transit. Gentlemen, again I return you my heartfelt thanks for the hearty reception you have accorded me, and I earnestly hope that no conduct of mine in the future will mar my association with you.

Mr. Whitbeck was then escorted to the grand hall of the East-side Association in Eighty-sixth-street, where a collation was spread, after which the following toasts were proposed and responded to: "The City," responded to by Mr. Chas. Crary; "The Bar," by Horace Barnard; "The Ladies," by Col. B. A. Willis; "No Politics," by Alex. Thain, and "The Press," by Capt. W. H. Bliss.

Great Excitement in Elizabethport—Dredging for Capt. Kidd's Treasure.

No greater excitement has agitated Elizabethport during many years past than that which raged there yesterday morning. A report published a few days ago of the finding of several old pieces of silver in the oyster-beds, near Elizabethport, sent hundreds of treasure-seekers in fishing boats to the spot indicated, and everybody in the "port" watched the experiments with the greatest interest. Yesterday morning three brothers, William, Alexander and Harvey Dickson, went out in their boats to the spot near the old brick-yard, where Van Pelt discovered the silver on Monday last. For three hours they worked with their oyster-tongs, and at the end of that time came to shore with eighty Spanish dollars. One of the party, Alexander, found sixty-two; Harvey thirteen, and William five. The coins are old and very much worn. The few that bore distinct dates were coined in the year 1604. An old numismatist of Elizabethport says they are what is known as "Cob" dollars, made in Peru in the year 1692.

THE TURF.

Second Day of the Fleetwood Park Meeting.

Grace Bertram and Judge Fullerton the Winners of the Trots—The Fordham and Jockey Club Handicaps.

Notwithstanding a clouded sky, three thousand people crowded the stands at Fleetwood Park yesterday to witness the two races on the programme. A band of music was stationed on the balcony of the Club-house, and played between the heats. The Judges were Messrs. Trumbull, Jones and Van Cortland, who, punctual to time, called up the contestants for the first race, which was between horses which had never trotted better than 2:34. In this there were Eight Bells, Geo. L. Fox, Grey Eddy, Grace Bertram, Camors, St. Elmo, Brown Kitty and Fanny Lambert. In answer to the summons all but the two latter appeared. Grace Bertram was the favorite, as will appear from the following quotations:

Grace Bertram	$200	$205	$200	$160	$140
Camors	60	55	65	40	20
Grey Eddy	30	35	35	28	40
Field	36	30	35	26	26
Totals	$326	$325	$335	$254	$226

On drawing for the choice of position, Brown Kitty drew the pole, Grey Eddy second, Camors third, Eight Bells fourth, Grace Bertram fifth, St. Elmo sixth, and Fox on the outside. After the positions were assigned Brown Kitty was drawn.

First Heat.—After scoring six times, they got the word, with Eddy and St. Elmo together, the rest close up. As they went to the turn Eddy led, with Eight Bells second, St. Elmo third and Grace Bertram fourth. Grace Bertram then began to close upon her leaders, and at the quarter-pole took the third place, and Eight Bells went up to the lead, and at the quarter-pole, in 37¼ seconds, she led a length, Eddy second, Grace Bertram third, St. Elmo fourth. On the backstretch Grace Bertram rushed to the front, and at the half-mile pole, in 1:14, she led a length, Eight Bells second, two lengths in front of St. Elmo, Camors fourth, Eddy fifth, and Fox far in the rear. On the lower turn Camors rushed up to the second place and lapped Bertram. At the three-quarter pole they were on even terms, but coming up the stretch Grace Bertram went ahead again, and won the heat by a length in 2:32¼. Camors second, two lengths in front of Eight Bells, St. Elmo fourth, Eddy fifth, and Fox sixth.

Second Heat.—Three attempts and they were off, Camors, Eight Bells and Grace Bertram getting off on even terms. On the turn Camors and Eight Bells broke and lost their positions as St. Elmo went to the front, but he in turn broke and Fox assumed the lead at the quarter-pole in 37½ seconds, with St. Elmo second and Bertram third. Going down the backstretch Fox trotted away three lengths, while Grace Bertram went up to the second place, and finally gave Fox the go by. At the half-mile pole, in 1:13½, Grace Bertram showed four lengths in the van, while St. Elmo took the second place and led Fox a length, who was a dozen lengths away from Grey Eddy, Eight Bells being far behind. As they came to the hill St. Elmo left his feet and fell back to the third place, Fox going up second. At the three-quarter pole their positions were as follows: Bertram first, well in hand and leading sixth lengths, Fox second, two lengths in front of St Elmo, the others out of the race. Coming up the stretch Bertram had it easy winning by ten lengths in 2:30, Fox second, a neck's length in front of St Elmo, who was three-quarters of a length in advance of Eddy, Eight Bells fifth and Camors sixth.

Third Heat.—The "go" was given on the fourth score with Eight Bells a length in the lead, St. Elmo second, Fox third and Bertram fourth. As they went to the turn Fox went to the front, with St. Elmo second and Bertram third, on a break. Fox kept his lead and passed the quarter-pole in 36 seconds, a length in front of St. Elmo, Eight Bells third, on a run, Bertram fourth, also on the run. As they went down the backstretch, Fox led St. Elmo two lengths, and the latter was half a dozen lengths away from Eight Bells. Before reaching the half-mile pole Bertram passed Eight Bells. At the half-mile pole, in 1:12, their positions were as follows: Fox two lengths in advance of St. Elmo, who was six lengths ahead of Bertram, she being a length away from Eight Bells, Camors fifth, and Eddy sixth. At the foot of the hill Fox lost his feet and fell back, and St. Elmo took the lead, Grace Bertram in the mean time forging to the front, which position she gained at the three-quarter pole. Camors then came with a rush and took second place on a run. Coming up the stretch Bertram was taken in hand and won the heat by three lengths in 2:30¾, Connors getting in second on a run, St. Elmo third, Eddy fourth, Fox fifth and Eight Bells sixth. The second place was given to St. Elmo on account of Camors running.

SECOND TROT.

This was the great race of the day, and the most intense interest was excited as to its probable result, as the entries were horses who have heretofore trotted well in the twenties. The contestants were A. Goldsmith's b. m. Huntress, D. Pfifer's s. s. Byron, W. H. Humphrey's ch. g. Judge Fullerton, J. J. Bowen's g. m. Sea Foam and Peter Manee's b. s. W. H. Allen. In the betting Judge Fullerton had the call, and was a great favorite over the field. He justified the expectations of his backers, for he won a well-contested and fast race. The following are the details:

SECOND RACE.

First Heat.—The fourth attempt was a go, with Huntress first, Allen second, Byron third, Sea Foam fourth, Fullerton fifth. As they went to the turn, Allen pushed to the front and led a length, Byron going up to the second place. Allen kept the command past the quarter-pole, which he passed in 36 seconds, a length in front of Byron; Fullerton third, Huntress fourth, and Sea Foam away in the rear. As they flew down the backstretch, Fullerton took the second place from Byron, and closed rapidly upon Allen. Fullerton then went to the front, leading Allen a neck at the half-mile pole in 1:10¾; Allen second, four lengths in advance of Byron, Huntress fourth, and Sea Foam far behind. On the lower turn Fullerton forced the pace, and Allen left his feet, falling back to the fourth place, and Huntress passed Byron, going up second. At the three-quarter pole Fullerton was four lengths ahead in the van, and was then taken in hand, and, despite the efforts of Huntress, won the heat by two lengths in 2:25¾—Huntress second, six lengths ahead of Allen, Byron fourth, and Sea Foam fifth.

Second Heat.—After testing the patience of the spectators with ten false attempts, they got off with Huntress two lengths in the lead, Fullerton and Allen together, Byron fourth and Sea Foam fifth. Huntress maintained the lead round the turn, with Allen second, Fullerton breaking and falling to fourth place. On nearing the quarter-pole Huntress left her feet, but did not lose her advantage, as she passed that point half a length in advance of Allen, in 36 seconds, Byron third, Fullerton fourth, and Sea Foam last. On the backstretch Manee gave Allen his head, and he immediately rushed past Huntress, and showed the way. He trotted very fast, and he reached the half-mile pole in 1:11, three lengths in advance of Fullerton, who had got up second. Fullerton was a length ahead of Huntress, who was six lengths in the van of Byron, Sea Foam bringing up the rear. At the foot of the hill on the lower turn, Huntress passed Fullerton, and closed upon Allen. At the three-quarter pole, Allen was a length the best of Huntress, Fullerton third, Byron fourth, and Sea Foam fifth. Coming up the homestretch, a grand struggle ensued between Allen, Huntress and Fullerton, and great excitement was the consequence. Manee used the whip freely upon Allen, who got away from it, and won the heat amid the cheering of the spectators, in 2:25¼. He was a length ahead of Fullerton, who was two lengths in advance of Huntress, Sea Foam fourth, and Byron fifth.

Third Heat.—Byron was drawn. On the second attempt the word was given with Huntress a length in front, Allen second, a length ahead of Sea Foam, Fullerton bringing up the rear. As they reached the turn Allen and Huntress were on even terms, Fullerton third. At the quarter-pole, in 36 seconds, Huntress was leading Fullerton three lengths, the latter being four lengths ahead of Sea Foam. Down the backstretch Huntress began to run, and still kept her lead to the half-mile pole, which she passed in 1:11, a length in advance of Fullerton, who was getting the whip. The other two were far out of the race. On the lower turn the contest was sharp between Huntress and Fullerton, and she maintained the lead to the homestretch, when she broke to a run again and Fullerton won by a length in 2:27; Huntress second, Sea Foam third and Allen fourth. The judges set back Huntress to the fourth place for running.

Fourth Heat.—They were away on the fourth attempt with Huntress first, Allen second, Fullerton third, and Sea Foam last. On the turn Fullerton and Allen were together in the lead, but at the quarter-pole, in 36½ seconds, Fullerton left Allen two lengths behind. He was a length ahead of Huntress, while Sea Foam fell out of the contest. On the backstretch Fullerton opened away, and was three lengths ahead at the half-mile pole, in 1:11½. Allen tried to close upon Fullerton, but did not succeed in catching him, and the latter won the heat and race by a length in 2:29. Allen second, Huntress third, and Sea Foam fourth.

SUMMARY.

Same Day.—Purse $2,500, for horses that have never beaten 2:25; $1,500 to first, $600 to second, and $400 to third horse; mile heats, best three in five, in harness.

Is it Right to Steal Private Letters?

From the Evening Post, May 22.

There is one question which till now we have never thought that we should be obliged to put seriously to our readers. Is the prejudice in favor of respecting the sanctity of private correspondence on the whole a salutary one, and worthy of being encouraged and kept up, or is it time that it should be discarded?

Would it be the right sort of thing to pick a man's pocket of the private letters which he carries about with him?

If one should drop in the street a letter addressed to him, is it the act either of a gentleman or a respector of the ordinary rules of morality to pick it up and, instead of restoring it to the proper owner unread, to read it and publish it to the world?

If one should casually leave a drawer filled with his private letters where they can be got at by those who bear him no good will, is it right to take possession of them and print them in a pamphlet or publish them in the newspapers?

These are questions which the people of the United States are asked to answer, and will be afforded an opportunity of answering at the next election of President. The national post-office is an important executive department, and the people are asked to place in the executive chair a man who is in favor of peeping into private letters. But let us be more explicit.

In the year 1845 a man named Mackenzie, whom we remember as described in the newspapers of the day as "a little Scotchman with a large head and a red wig," found it convenient to leave Canada, where he had made himself notorious as a political agitator, and came to New-York. Here he was accommodated with a place of some sort in the Custom-house. Shortly before that time Mr. Jesse Hoyt had been Collector of Customs for the port of New-York, and had left behind him, in a box or drawer, a large number of private letters, principally relating to political matters, addressed to him by various persons, most of whom are now dead. Among these were Thaddeus Phelps, Stephen Allen, B. F. Butler, late Attorney-General of the United States, and one of the most beloved and honored citizens of the Union, Mrs. Butler, John Van Buren and others. Mackenzie somehow got possession of these—stole them, in short—for it was a clear case of larceny, taking what he had no right to—and published them. Judged by the lowest standard of morality, he had committed an infamous crime.

In this infamy Horace Greeley made himself, by defending the conduct of Mackenzie, an accomplice. It is not improbable, indeed, that he advised the publication of the letters, for the preface to Mackenzie's pamphlet is dated Sept. 1, and it appears that Mr. Greeley was furnished with an early copy, since only three weeks afterward, not more than time sufficient to get the book through the press, he introduced it to the readers of the Tribune with a flourish of trumpets, and published several of the stolen letters. The Tribune's notice of the book was published on Monday, the 22d of September, occupying about four columns on the second page, and was headed "The Secret Political History of the State of New-York." It speaks of the book as "the most remarkable, important, astounding which has appeared in this century," and adds:

> "The book before us consists, in the main, of the private correspondence of Martin Van Buren and his wire-workers, with Jesse Hoyt, their crony and fugleman in this City, during the quarter of a century which witnessed the rise and fall of the master-spirit of this soulless and profligate junto."

Mr. Greeley's paper then gives the following history of the stolen correspondence:

> "We gather from the opening chapter that they (the letters) were left behind him in the Custom-house when Mr. Hoyt rather hastily vacated that establishment, were claimed and taken possession of by Mr. Poindexter and investigating Commissioners, by them removed to Washington, where it was apprehended that Mr. Hoyt would replevin them, and have since found their way to the hands of their present editor and publisher by means not fully explained."

No special explanation, one would think, was necessary. The whole affair of putting and keeping these letters out of Mr. Hoyt's reach was most sneakingly managed, and if all that is said in this paragraph be true, the theft begun by others was only consummated and carried into full effect by Mackenzie, with the aid of Mr. Greeley to justify the larceny and help him to sell the correspondence he had stolen.

This prompt notice of the book was followed by several of the letters, and the next morning, under the head of "More of the Secret Political History," additional extracts were given from letters of Mr. Van Buren, Mr. Butler and others, after which the editor, Mr. Greeley, remarked:

> "Our notice of this new work on the lives and opinions of the Loco Foco Party in this State created a great excitement in this City. The call for the paper and for the book itself, was immense. The end is not yet."

Day after day Mr. Greeley, in his journal, returned to this subject, with the manifest purpose of aiding Mackenzie in the object of his theft. On the 26th of September the Tribune boasted of the circulation given to the book, and declared that it should do what it could to extend it. On the same day, replying to the Evening Post, it justified its course by saying:

> "It has long been our firm conviction that Martin Van Buren and his leading personal adherents were corrupt and reckless gamblers in politics, false pretenders to Democracy, and every way unworthy of public trust. On that faith we have steadily acted. * * * At last incontrovertible evidence of the correctness of our opinion of these men is placed before us. We lay a part of this evidence before our readers."

In other words, because Mr. Greeley had a bad opinion of Mr. Van Buren and his political friends, it was proper to steal and publish their private letters. Here is enough for one day, but the subject is not exhausted, and we shall speak hereafter of some other aspects of this case.

Important Decision—Rights of Railroad Companies.

In the Court of Chancery at Trenton, yesterday, Chancellor Zabriskie gave his decision in the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company against the New-York and Long Branch Railroad Company, in a rule to show cause why the injunction prohibiting the bridging of Raritan Bay by the latter Company should not be made perpetual. The injunction was refused, and the Chancellor decided that the authority granted to railroad companies to use land under water gave them the right to build bridges without compensation to the State. The rights of the Company were so plain that they must be considered as established.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE....Washington, Tuesday, May 22.

There was an all-night session of the Senate. A spirited personal debate occurred between Messrs. Conkling, Thurman and Casserly.

PASSAGE OF THE HABEAS CORPUS BILL.

The Habeas Corpus Suspension bill was passed about 4 o'clock by a vote of 28 to 15.

A CIVIL RIGHTS BILL PASSED.

The Senate then by an arrangement between the Democrats and Republicans, took up a Supplemental Civil Rights bill offered by Mr. Carpenter, like Mr. Sumner's, but applying to schools, cemeteries or juries, and it was passed, yeas 27, nays 14.

PASSAGE OF THE HOUSE AMNESTY BILL.

The last House Amnesty bill was then passed—yeas 38, nays 12. Messrs. Nye and Sumner, the latter declaring himself in favor of amnesty, but voting against the bill, because the Senate rejected his original Civil Rights bill which he had offered as an amendment.

At 10:20 A. M. the Senate adjourned until 3 P. M.

The Senate reassembled at 3 o'clock. A number of bills were reported from Committees and placed on the calendar.

APPORTIONMENT.

On motion of Mr. Edmunds, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Supplemental Apportionment bill, which gives an additional Representative to several States who have large fractions.

Mr. Hitchcock moved to add Nebraska as entitled to an additional Representative.

The amendment was rejected, and the bill passed.

PENSIONS.

Mr. Conkling called up the bill to grant a pension to Adelia Foster. Passed.

Also, granting a pension to J. W. Crokehert. Passed.

Also, called up the bill for the relief of the sureties of Jesse J. Simpkin, of Virginia. Passed.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

On motion of Mr. Cameron the Senate, at 4 o'clock, proceeded to the consideration of Executive business.

Mr. Trumbull, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported without amendment the House bill to prevent certain United States officers from practicing in the United States Courts in certain cases, to amend the criminal proceedings, act of March 31, 1865, and to provide for holding a United States Circuit Court in the Western District of Missouri.

Also, with amendment, the House bill amendatory of the act establishing a Department of Justice.

Mr. Howe, from the Committee of Claims, reported without amendment the bill for the relief of Connecticut and other States.

Also, the House bill to pay the awards of the Southern Claims Commissioners, with amendments striking out the appropriations for a few small claims.

The Senate, at 6¼, adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Sargent presented the majority report, and Mr. Blair, of Michigan, the minority report of the Select Committee on the charges against the Secretary of the Navy.

THE ROCK ISLAND BRIDGE.

Mr. Holman, from the Committee on Commerce, reported back the Senate amendment to the House bill granting to the Davenport and St. Paul Railroad the right of way over the Rock Island Bridge. Concurred in.

THE AMNESTY BILL.

The Speaker presented the House Amnesty bill of the 13th of May, with the indorsement of its passage by the Senate by the requisite two-thirds vote. He directed the bill to be read in full, because the question was raised whether it required the approval of the President.

Mr. Bingham contended that it did, and a colloquy ensued between the Speaker and members.

The Speaker finally stated that he was informed by the Clerk that all the Amnesty bills heretofore passed were sent to the President for his signature.

Mr. Randall inquired how the matter would stand if the President should not sign the bill.

The Speaker—That is a question for Congress, not for the Chair. It is the duty of the Chair to follow the precedents and practices of the House. It is purely a ministerial duty on his part, and does not involve any Constitutional question.

Mr. Randall—I have not the least objection if it will gratify the Republican Party that the President shall sign an Amnesty bill at this eleventh hour.

Mr. Bingham—Especially after the President's recommending amnesty in his message.

Mr. Beck—I desire to submit a resolution on that point.

The Speaker declined to entertain it.

Mr. Beck—By what authority does the Speaker send the bill to the President?

The Speaker—Because all other like bills have been sent to him. The Clerk informs the Chair that the practice has been usual and universal.

Mr. Beck—That may be so.

The Speaker—Then why should the Chair assume to change the practice of the House?

Mr. Beck—Why not let the House express its opinion on that point?

The Speaker—If unanimous consent be given the Chair will submit the question.

Mr. Bingham—I object.

The Speaker—Then the Chair cannot entertain it as a question of privilege.

Mr. Cox—I rise to a parliamentary question. I would like, if possible, to avoid complications on this matter. Suppose the President should retain this bill for ten days until both Houses shall have adjourned, what effect would that have on the law?

The Speaker—That is not a parliamentary point. It is not for the Speaker of the House to answer questions as to the probable course of the President of the United States.

Mr. Cox—I want to avoid trouble on this matter.

The Speaker—There will not be any.

Mr. Cox—I want amnesty adopted.

Mr. Randall moved that Mr. Rogers, of North Carolina, a member elect, whose disabilities are removed by this bill, be sworn in.

The Speaker stated that that brought up the same question in a different shape, and he declined to entertain the motion.

Mr. Dawes expressed regret that all the anxiety for amnesty seemed to be changed into solicitude lest the President should approve the bill.

Mr. Randall—There is no such issue at all.

The Speaker repeated that the precedents had been to send such bills to the President, and he would therefore wait to swear in Mr. Rogers until the bill was signed. He would give it as his opinion, however, that the House would not have to wait very long.

CHARGES AGAINST MR. MULLETT.

Mr. Garfield offered a resolution quoting statements from Mr. Farnsworth's speech of yesterday against Mr. Mullett, Supervising Architect of the Treasury, and ordering that the Secretary of the Treasury be informed of the charges so made, and requested to cause the same to be investigated, and to take such action thereon as the result of such investigation shall require.

After a long discussion the resolution was adopted, with an amendment offered by Mr. Farnsworth, directing the Secretary of the Treasury to report specific answers to the charges made in Mr. Farnsworth's remarks.

SUNDRY CIVIL APPROPRIATIONS.

The House then, at 12¾ o'clock, went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Wheeler in the chair, on the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill.

Among the amendments adopted to the bill was one offered by Mr. Townsend, of New-York, appropriating $1,508 for fog bells at Fort Hamilton and Fort Columbus, New-York Harbor.

Having progressed as far as the forty-second page of the bill, which contains fifty-three pages, the Committee rose.

LAND GRANT AT PLATTSBURG.

Mr. Wheeler introduced a bill granting twenty-five acres of the military reservation at Plattsburg, New-York, to the New-York and Canada Railroad Company. Passed.

The House then, at 4½ o'clock, adjourned.

Curious Suit Against a Nuisance in Massachusetts—An Injunction Granted.

From the Worcester Spy, May 21.

Chief-Justice Chapman has issued the following temporary injunction in the case of the proprietors of Rural Cemetery vs. Robert A. Anderson, which was heard at the last session of the Supreme Judicial Court held in this city:

Worcester Supreme Judicial Court, }
May 16, 1872. }

Proprietors of Rural Cemetery vs. Robert A. Anderson.—The parties having been heard on the plaintiff's motion for an injunction, it is ordered that an injunction issue, restraining the defendant, his agents and servants, from carrying on the business of manufacturing copperas, as heretofore, or in any such way as to cause the escape of mineral or gaseous substances into the atmosphere, whereby they will be exposed to be carried by winds into the said cemetery, and cause the monuments therein to be discolored or otherwise injured, and that the injunction be continued till the further order of the Court.

A STARTLING BOOK!
THE NETHER SIDE OF NEW-YORK;
OR,
THE CRIME, POVERTY AND VICE OF THE
GREAT METROPOLIS.
By Edward Crapsey.

One vol., octavo, paper, price	$1 00
One vol., octavo, cloth, price	1 75

A portion only of this remarkable book has appeared in the pages of The Galaxy; but that which appeared, has attracted the attention of the leading papers all over the country. This book, in its complete form, will be one of wonderful interest, not only to the thoughtful reader, for its facts and figures may be relied on; but also to those who read from mere excitement, and wish to know the secrets of the dens of vice and misery with which our great Metropolis is so plentifully supplied.

The New-York Times says: "These are questions in which humanity is deeply interested, and Mr. Crapsey has labored to solve them for the welfare of society."

The New-York Evening Post says of the author: "Mr. Edward Crapsey seems to have made the dangerous classes of New-York a special study, and with a success equal to that of Horace Mayhew in his observations of London pauper life."

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

A large and interested audience was present at the Exchange yesterday, (Wednesday, May 22,) drawn together mainly by the advertised sale of property belonging to the estate of JAMES SLEVIN, deceased, embracing a very choice and valuable selection of both improved and unimproved City realty. The auction was one from its importance naturally attracting the attention of capitalists, and among the heavy operators in attendance, we noticed the following; A. R. Eno, Griffith Rowe, L. J. Phillips, Thomas Murphy, Lewis B. Brown, John H. Power, Terrence Farley, B. P. Fairchild, Z. Jacques, Isaac Meyer, Francis Tomes, Bernard Smythe, John J. Bradley, John E. Develin, E. J. King, George H. Peck, and others, together with nearly all the leading brokers in the City. The sale was made under the direction of THOMAS E. SLEVIN, executor, by A. H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & Co. as auctioneers. Before the auction commenced, however, Mr. MULLER announced that the twelve lots in the block bounded by and fronting on Broadway, Seventh-avenue and Fiftieth-street would not be offered, from the fact that, as there was a difference of opinion, owing to the questions arising out of the proposed widening of Broadway and the reversionary rights of owners and purchasers in the street named, it was deemed more judicious to postpone the sale of the property affected thereby, until these questions were determined. The balance of the real estate advertised for sale was then disposed of, and the unimproved lots brought good figures, but the stores on Church and Walker streets sold low. The fact was noticeable at this sale, as at others that are daily held, that while lots with a prospective value sell readily and high, improved real estate drags, and in many instances it is difficult to realize the cost of the building upon the same. The total of the Slevin sale, yesterday, reached the sum of $470,360, and the following is a report in detail of the transaction: one lot on the south-west corner of the Grand Boulevard and Sixty-first-street, sold to JOHN E. DEVELIN for $32,000; two lots on the Grand Boulevard, adjoining, sold to same buyer for $29,000 each; one lot, adjoining, sold to JOHN J. BRADLEY for $30,100, and two lots, adjoining, sold to LEWIS B. BROWN for $26,250 each, (these six lots sold for $172,600 in the aggregate;) three lots on the east side of Broadway, each 16.10 feet in front by about 85 feet in depth, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth streets, with three-story brick buildings upon the same, sold for $30,300 each, and purchased by CYRUS CLARK. (The proposed new line of Broadway takes off from the front of these lots about thirty-three feet, and the net award for damages, &c., under the Second Commission is $48,035.) One lot on the west side of Seventh-avenue, 25.1x90, in rear of above, sold for $20,500, also purchased by Mr. CLARK. Two lots, on the west side of Broadway, between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth streets, each 25.10 in front, by an average depth of ninety feet, sold for $32,200 each, and purchased by Z. JAQUES. (The new Broadway line takes off from these lots about 26 feet, and the award by the Second Board of Commissioners is $22,460.) One lot on the east side of Broadway, 20.5 by about 60, nearly opposite above, sold for $34,600, and purchased by E. J. KING; four-story stone front store and lot, No. 23 Walker-street, between Church-street and West Broadway, renting for $6,000 per year, sold for $44,500, purchaser, WM. WATSON, and four-story stone-front store and lot, No. 232 Church-street, between Lispenard and Canal streets, renting for $5,500 per annum, sold for $42,800 and purchased by JAMES FISHER. The general result by the sale was regarded as satisfactory.

In addition to the above the following other business was transacted: JAMES M. MILLER, by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of N. JARVIS, Jr., Esq., referee, sold a three-story and basement brick house and lot, situate on the south side of East Forty-eighth-street, between First and Second avenues, to Dr. FREDERICK MIERSON, for $11,100, while A. J. BLEECKER, SON & Co., at another Supreme Court foreclosure sale, heretofore several times adjourned, PHILO T. RUGGLES, Esq., referee, disposed of a small two-story brick house, with triangular lot, situate at the junction of New-Chambers, Oak and Roosevelt streets, for $4,000, to JOHN AITKEN, plaintiff in the legal action. The leasehold business property No. 70 Murray-street, advertised for sale by JERE. JOHNSON, Jr., was not offered, nor was the house and lot on Douglas-street, Brooklyn, noticed for sale by NICHOLAS R. CONNER, the auctioneer in this instance not putting in an appearance. In regard to the suburban sales held yesterday, viz., by A. D. MELLICK, Jr., & Co., at Greenville, N. J., and by S. DINGEE, at Mott Haven, Westchester County, reports as to the results, if received, will be published to-morrow.

For today the following sales are announced: At the Exchange a variety of improved City real estate by JAMES M. MILLER, and a house and lot in Harlem by A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO. At Madison, N. J., on the ground, at 12½ P. M., by A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BRO., a number of desirable building plots, together with nine new cottages, and the property known as Oriental Hall. Special train for sale from foot of Barclay and Christopher streets at 11½ A. M. At Plainfield, N. J., on the premises, at 12 M., by W. W. DRAKE, two large dwellings and fourteen well-located building lots; and at Darien, Conn., on the property, at 11 A. M., by JERE. JOHNSON, Jr., an extensive list of very choice real estate, consisting of back lots, villa plots and improved realty.

The sale held at Newark, N. J., on Tuesday, May 21, by A. D. MELLICK, Jr., & BRO., at which lots belonging to the Toler property was offered, resulted quite successfully, some forty-eight lots being sold for $24,525; also house and ten lots sold for $12,100—total, $36,625. The attendance was large, but mainly from Newark. The buyers of lots were as follows: From this City, Wm. M. McCutchen, J. W. Lawrence, G. C. Allen, and Chas. Kaass; from Madison, N. J., Mahlon Miller; from New-Providence, J. B. Bassinger; and from Newark, Peter Martin, B. J. Ford, Thos. Houbrathy, Julius Bloom, Morris Levi, A. Abbott, S. P. Haff, Chas. F. Bensen, Geo. Hassenger, J. Coyne, Isaac Hey McCone, Jacob Frenchman, A. Black, M. Heinman, and C. Clark. Some of the lots sold as high as $1,200 each, while the average was about $500 each.

At private sale, WM. H. RAYNOR, No. 5½ Pine-street, reports having recently sold one full lot on the north side of One Hundred and Third-street, 70 feet west of Madison-avenue, for $7,500; two lots on the south side of Fifty-ninth-street, 250 feet west of Fifth-avenue, fronting on Central Park, for $65,000, and one full lot on the north side of One Hundred and Fifth-street, 155 feet west of Fourth-avenue, for $3,500, cash.

RICHARD V. HARNETT, No. 111 Broadway, reports the sale of eight lots on Eighth-avenue, forming block front between Sixty-fourth and Sixty-fifth streets, with two lots in rear on Sixty-fourth-street, for $255,000; sold for W. H. OGILIN to W. POLLION.

LOUIS SOHN, No. 335 Broadway, also reports having sold a plot of seventeen lots, as follows: Eight lots on the west side of the Grand Boulevard, forming block front between Eighty-fifth and Eighty-sixth streets; eight lots in rear, four each fronting on the street named, and one lot adjoining, being the north-east corner of Eleventh-avenue and Eighty-fifth-street, sold together for $164,000.

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE.

FIRST-CLASS COUNTRY RESIDENCE FOR SALE.—The homestead of the late A. G. Hazard, in the centre of the beautiful town of Enfield, Conn., about nine miles from Springfield and seventeen miles from Hartford. It comprises about forty-five acres of land, fronting on Enfield-st., and all the buildings desirable for a gentleman's residence, is situated near churches, schools and the post-office, and about a mile from the Springfield and Hartford Railroad depot. The location is healthful and pleasant, and only a half-mile distant from the "Enfield Rapids" on the Connecticut River. The grounds are handsomely laid out and well supplied with fruit and ornamental trees, hedges and green-houses. The house is of brick, stuccoed; has stone foundations, underpinning and trimmings; is comparatively new and in perfect repair; built in the most thorough and substantial manner, elegantly finished; has all the modern conveniences and improvements; contains twenty-five good-sized rooms, two furnaces, bath-room, &c.; and hot and cold water are carried into every part of the house. It has but few equals as a desirable country residence for a gentleman's family, and it is also admirably adapted for a boys' or girls' boarding-school, or a Summer hotel for city boarders.

The above property will be sold at a bargain, and a liberal portion of the purchase money can remain on mortgage if desired. For further information inquire personally or by letter of E. W. BOND, or CHARLES MARSH, cashier of Pynchon National Bank, Springfield, Mass.

MORNINGSIDE MANSION IN PITTSFIELD, BERKSHIRE COUNTY, MASS.—This villa, recently owned and occupied by Judge B. R. Curtis, is offered for sale. From ten to one hundred acres of meadow, tillage and wood land, can be had with it; the land is of the first quality and has a warm south-easterly exposure; the buildings are all in perfect repair and carefully adapted to Summer and Winter occupancy; it is provided with a prolific grapery, a large and productive fruit orchard, and extensive garden grounds, well cared for and inviting; the site commands an unusual range of Berkshire scenery, and the place is considered one of the very finest villas in the country; it is one mile from the centre of Pittsfield. Inquire of E. H. KELLOGG, Pittsfield, Mass.

HUDSON RIVER PROPERTY.—Peremptory sale, in partition, by order of the Supreme Court, at the Court-house, in Poughkeepsie, on SATURDAY, May 25, 1872, at 12 o'clock noon. The valuable farm of land situate on the east bank of the Hudson River, sixty-five miles from the City of New-York, about half way between Fishkill Landing and New-Hamburg, adjoining the country-seat of the late Mr. Barclay, on the south, one mile north of the Hudson River Railroad Depot at Carthage Landing, known as the Robinson farm, and containing about 125 acres. This property is eligibly situated, commanding numerous fine river and inland views. To be sold under the direction of JAMES H. WEEKS, Referee.
For further information apply to F. S. ROBINSON, No. 126 Pearl-st., New-York City.

200 Magnificent Villa Plots,

the new railroad centre of New-Jersey, fifteen miles from New-York by the Morris and Essex Railroad, between Maplewood and Millburn. This property is among the finest ever offered at auction in the State. It fronts the railroad at one of its most picturesque points and extends back on a gradual ascent of the mountain side, affording a view remarkable for its extent and beauty, embracing all the country lying between New-York and Trenton, overlooking New-York, Brooklyn, and the Harbor, Newark Bay, Staten Island, Elizabeth, Newark, Orange, and all the towns on the line of the New-Jersey and New-Jersey Central Roads. The station is on the property. The New-Jersey West Line, now rapidly completing, has a station within 400 feet, and but a few yards distant is the junction station of the Newark and New-York Railroad, making this point the most convenient of any within the same distance of New-York, there being three stations on three different railways. Splendid music will be furnished by Grafulla's Seventh Regiment Band. Luncheon before the sale. Special train will leave the foot of Christopher and Barclay sts., at 10½ A. M. For maps and particulars apply to the auctioneers.

Conventions, Conferences and Synods Held Yesterday.

Work of the Episcopalians in Brooklyn—The New Methodist Bishops—The Baptists and Presbyterians.

The Brooklyn Episcopal Diocesan Convention.

The second day's session of the Episcopal Convention of the Diocese of Long Island opened yesterday morning at Holy Trinity Church, Brooklyn, and was well attended by both delegates and visitors. Large bouquets and baskets of flowers decked the chancel and diffused their fragrance throughout the church. The proceedings were opened with the morning service, Bishop LITTLEJOHN and several other clergymen officiating.

A Committee on "Aged and Infirm Clergymen" was appointed by the Bishop, of which Rev. JOHN A. PADDOCK, Mr. CHAS. A. TOWNSEND, and Mr. JOHN H. BERGEN formed the members.

The Committee on Incorporation and Admission of Churches reported, through Rev. RICHARD B. DUANE, in favor of the admission of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Brooklyn, Kings County, and St. John's Islip, Suffolk County. The churches were admitted. The Committee also reported in favor of parishes adopting a law in accordance with the amendments of 1868 for the government of parishes. It was referred to the Committee on Canons.

Mr. MARVIN, from the Church of the Redeemer, stated the difficulty of the church during the absence of their late rector, Rev. Mr. JESSUP. The vestry held regular meetings, which were informal, owing to the absence of the rector, but when they were able to hold a legal meeting they confirmed all they had done. He moved the adoption of the law of 1868 to remove the difficulty existing under the incorporation law of 1831. The resolution was adopted.

The Missionary Society presented their report through Rev. Mr. PADDOCK, from which it appeared that at the beginning of the year the treasury held a balance of $1,798 68. The receipts for the year amounted to $5,663 08, making a total of $7,361 76. The expenditures were $6,784 35, leaving a balance of $677 40. Three thousand six hundred and seventy-six dollars and eighty-nine cents were contributed by twenty-three churches in Kings County; $875 90 by thirteen churches in Queens County, and $1,010 29 from nine churches in Suffolk County. The report recommended association missions, owing to the great burdens borne by small populations.

The report of the Standing Committee was read by Dr. DROWNE.

The report of the trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen was read by Dr. SCHENCK, from which it appears that an increase of $900 is manifest over the previous year. The payments were $900 to clergymen, and the permanent fund is now $18,500.

Mr. PIERREPONT, treasurer of the trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen, reported that the moneys were distributed as detailed in Dr. SCHENCK's report.

Mr. NICOL reported for the Treasurer of the Diocesan Fund for the Bishop's salary, the balance May 1, 1871, was $1,023 68. From Diocesan Fund, $3,242 15; from churches, $2,706 25. Total, $6,972 08. The Chicago Relief Fund was $4,773 83.

Mr. PIERREPONT read the report of the Standing Committee on the Theological Seminary. It recommended that a collection be taken up in the churches in aid of the Seminary. A resolution was adopted to that effect.

Rev. Dr. DILLER reported from the Standing Committee on the Diocesan Fund that the returns had been satisfactory, and recommended that the delegates to the Convention be allowed ten cents per mile as mileage.

Rev. Dr. JOHNSON, of St. Mary's Church, reported, from the Special Committee on the Female Diaconate, on woman's work in the church, which acknowledged its importance, and concluded by offering a resolution indorsing the views of the Bishop on the subject, set forth in his last annual address.

The Standing Committees were then elected.

The resolution was adopted.

Rev. Dr. SCHENCK moved that the Committee on Canons amend Canon No. 10 so as to provide for a digest of the report of the Church Charity Foundation, so that the Convention may have the operations of that charity fully laid before them.

Dr. SCHENCK presented a report, embodying the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on the apportionment of the charitable or other funds of the late undivided Diocese of New-York be continued, with full power to take such measures and make such settlement of the claims of the Diocese upon the Episcopal Fund of the late undivided Diocese of New-York as they shall deem best for the interests of the Diocese.

Pending the discussion of the resolution, the Convention adjourned.

The Methodist Conference—Three More Bishops Elected.

Bishop AMES presided over the Conference yesterday, and the religious services were conducted by Dr. E. J. WOOD, of Ohio. On motion of Dr. BONNER, of St. Louis, the regular order of business was suspended to permit the Conference to proceed to the election of the remaining three Bishops. The Rev. MOSES J. HILL, of Erie, expressed his thanks to the seventy who voted for him on the first ballot and the forty who had stood by him in the evening, but withdrew his name from the contest. The names of Drs. J. P. NEWMAN, B. F. CRARY, C. H. FOWLER, ALEXANDER MARTIN and CYRUS D. FOSS were also withdrawn as candidates, which materially simplified the next vote. The Conferences were called and 404 votes were cast making 203 necessary for a choice. After the tellers had retired, Dr. CURRY moved for a suspension of the order of the day, in order to take up the report of the Committee on the State of the Church. Mr. MARTIN, of Erie, explained that one object proposed in the report is an extended pastoral oversight. He desired to strike out the clause which obliged class-leaders to make quarterly reports to the Quarterly Conferences. Mr. PIERCE moved as a substitute that the class-leaders report to the pastors quarterly, in writing, and that the pastors report to the Quarterly Conference. The amendment, however, was tabled on motion of Dr. WHEATLEY. The report proposes to divide the societies into classes of twenty members each, the leader to report to each Quarterly Conference on the state of the class, the piety, and the money collected and distributed.

Before a vote was reached, however, the tellers returned with the result of the third ballot amid great excitement. Bishop SIMPSON announced that two persons only had received the requisite number of votes, EDWARD G. ANDREWS, who received 236, and GILBERT HAVEN, who received 209. The following is a recapitulation of the third ballot:

Total number of votes cast, 404; necessary to an election, 203; Dr. E. G. Andrews, New-York, 236; Dr. N. E. Cobbly, 28; Dr. J. M. Reed, 93; Dr. T. M. Eddy, 96; Dr. Gilbert Haven, Boston, 209; Dr. E. O. Haven, 127; Dr. J. M. Walden, 160; Dr. J. T. Peck, 198.

A fresh ballot was then taken, Dr. EDDY having first withdrawn his name. During the absence of the tellers the debate on the report of the Committee on the State of the Church was resumed. Mr. KLINE moved as a substitute that the report should be made to the leaders and stewards meeting. Mr. ROTHWEILER moved to refer it to the Committee on Revisals. Judge MCCALMONT sustained the Committee's report. Class meetings are a most valuable part of the machinery of the Church, and the Conference should perfect them by making them more effective and agreeable. Other denominations are fast coming round to adopt the principle of class meetings. A change in the class, he thought, was necessary, and he approved that one contained in the report.

At this point the tellers returned, and it was announced that the total number of votes cast was 401, of which Dr. JESSE T. PECK, of New-York, received 205. He was therefore declared elected, amid general acclamation. The other votes stood: J. M. WALDO, 159; E. O. HAVEN, 82; J. M. REED, 8.

On motion of Dr. EDDY, the class-leader question was indefinitely postponed. Brothers DUBS and BOWMAN, of the Evangelical Association, briefly addressed the Conference. Bishop SIMPSON appointed Messrs. TRIMBLE, THOMPSON and WHITE a Committee to assist in making arrangements for the ordination of the Bishops, and the Conference shortly after adjourned.

The Baptist Bible and Publication Society—Annual Meeting

The forty-eighth anniversary of the Baptist Bible and Publication Society was held in Calvary Church, in Twenty-third-street, yesterday morning. The church was well filled with visitors and those who had an interest in the deliberations. The devotional exercises commenced at 9 o'clock, and the anniversary exercises were formally opened in the church at 10 o'clock. Mr. WM. PHELPS presided.

The appointment of committees was first in order, and they were appointed as follows:

On Nominations—Revs. P. S. Hensen, Pennsylvania; D. J. Yerkies, New-Jersey; G. W. Gardner, Massachusetts; J. R. Baumes, Ohio; A. J. Sage, Connecticut; J. S. Kennard, New-York; A. R. Potter, Massachusetts.

On Business—Messrs. J. M. S. Williams, Massachusetts; S. A. Crozer, Pennsylvania; D. B. Cheney, Massachusetts; J. Wheaton Smith, Pennsylvania; J. M. Shaunfelt, Michigan; Thomas Armitage and R. G. Cornell, New-York.

On Amendments and Reorganization—Rev. D. B. Cheney, Thos. Armitage, Lemuel Moss, Pennsylvania; W. W. Everts, Illinois; G. C. Lorrimer, Massachusetts; Wm. Hague, New-Jersey; J. E. Lorrimer, Massachusetts; M. B. Anderson, New-York; Marcene Stone, Ohio.

Mr. JAMES S. DICKERSON and R. L. STROMS spoke briefly upon the Society's missionary character. The report of the Board was then read. It shows that the receipts for the year are in excess of any previous year by $54,219 36. The report also gives much interesting information regarding the manner of printing and distributing the Society's publications.

In the afternoon short addresses were made by Rev. WM. CATHCART, Rev. CHAS. KEYSER and Rev. J. F. ELDER upon the Sunday-school work of the Society. A resolution was passed striking out the word "Bible" from the name of the Society, leaving it "The Baptist Publication Society." The usual election of officers for the ensuing year then took place.

In the evening addresses were delivered by W. C. VAN METER, Dr. W. W. EVARTS and others.

Convention of the Reformed Presbyterian Church.

The sixth day's proceedings of the Presbyterian Synod was begun yesterday by the discussion of the following subject: "How can the Church influence the community at large to perform aright their civil duties?" Rev. SAMUEL MOFFATT presided. After the opening devotional exercises, Rev. Dr. STEELE moved to amend the subject by adding, "And how to promote the sanctity of the Sabbath in this community." Dr. CRAWFORD then spoke on the subject, followed by Dr. CLARKE, who said if there be a man who deserves the prayers of this people more than any other, it is the man at the head of this Government, who brought peace to the nation.

The report of the Board of Foreign Missions, relating to the Missions in India, the reports of the Board of Domestic Missions, its Executive Committee and Treasurer, were all read, received and referred. Dr. MCLEOD, M. D., presented a report of amounts collected for publication of testimony, which was adopted. The report on church property in Philadelphia Presbytery was presented by the Committee, through Rev. N. WOODSIDE. There was a lengthy debate opened on it, but it was finally adopted.

The Committee on Traveling Facilities was called on for their report, but replied that they would not be ready until to-morrow. The annual report of the Treasurer of the Foreign Missions was presented by Rev. Dr. MCLEOD. Collections taken in some of the Northern churches, $1,722 08. The report was accepted. The report of the Sustentation Fund, amounting to $2,561 41, receipts, and expenditure, $570 53, was accepted and adopted. The following resolution was then carried:

Resolved, That the Committee of the Sustentation Fund be and is hereby authorized to insert the balance in the hands of the Treasurer, viz.: $1,990 88, as per annual report.

THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Rags in Unopened Bales to be Admitted to this Port—Sanitary Reports—Mortality Record.

The regular meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon.

The slaughter-house of E. SEITER, Nos. 235 and 237 East Forty-fifth-street, having been reported in a very filthy condition, was ordered to be discontinued.

An application of M. DONOHUE & Co., who keep a slaughter-house at Nos. 224 and 226 East Forty-fifth-street, for a reconsideration of an order to vacate their premises, previously made by the Board, was denied.

The Board of Police were requested to enforce section No. 89 of the Sanitary Code; to report the arrests made for violations of this regulation, and the disposition made by the Magistrates of such persons arrested. The section is as follows:

SEC. 89. That no person shall deposit upon any street or public place within the generally built-up portion of the City of New-York, or upon any paved street, any dirt or brick, or other material or dirt taken from any ground therein, in such manner as to occupy more than 100 square feet of surface of any street or place, (and the same shall be compact and at one side,) nor allow the same to remain more than twelve hours without a permit from this Department, or unless such occupancy shall be otherwise duly authorized by paramount authority. Nor shall any such substance be so deposited or allowed to remain by any person as to obstruct the free flowage along any gutter.

On the recommendation of the Sanitary Committee, rags in compressed bales will in future be allowed to be landed in this City, on the condition that the bales are not to be opened within the City limits under any pretense whatever, such landing to be under supervision of the City Sanitary Inspector.

Dr. MORRIS reported adversely to the opening of all cemetery vaults for the interment of dead within the City limits, and recommended that in future no interments be permitted in this City below One Hundred and Fifty-third-street. A report in regard to the Marble Cemetery, in Second-street, between First and Second avenues, was referred to the Sanitary Committee and the Committee on Laws and Ordinances.

A complaint was received from residents in West Thirty-fourth-street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, in regard to the intolerable nuisance created by the offal and rendering dock at the foot of West Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth streets, North River, and the matter referred to the Sanitary Committee, with directions to report at the next meeting of the Board.

The Sanitary Committee reported the removal during the past week of 71 cases of small-pox to the hospital, and 6,341 vaccinations.

Dr. CHAS. P. RUSSELL, Register of Records, reports as follows: During the past week there were registered 645 deaths, being a decrease of 119 from the previous week, an excess of 171 over the corresponding period of 1871. Zymotic diseases occasioned 238 deaths; constitutional, 112; local, 227; developmental, 34, and violent causes, 34. The fatal cases of small-pox diminished from 48 to 36, of measles from 17 to 13, and of scarlatina from 41 to 29. The mortality of whooping cough increased from 15 to 19, of typhus fever from 1 to 3, of typhoid fever from 5 to 6, of cerebro-spinal meningitis from 50 to 51, and of diarrheal affections from 35 to 40. Diphtheria and croup together caused 23 deaths, the same number as in the preceding week. The deaths by phthisis pulmonalis decreased from 90 to 70, and those by the local respiratory disorders from 100 to 75. The following were the principal meteorological observations taken for this Department at the Cooper Union during the week: Maximum temperature, 73°; minimum temperature, 46°; mean temperature, 63.14°, being 2.11° higher than that of the corresponding period during the past ten years; mean reading of barometer, 29.582 inches; mean degree of humidity, 42.33. The following is a comparative statement of contagious diseases for the two weeks ending May 18, 1872:

Week ending May 11, typhus fever, 4; typhoid fever, 4; scarlet fever, 113; measles, 50; diphtheria, 30; small-pox, 115. May 18, typhus fever, 2; typhoid fever, 9; scarlet fever, 71; measles, 68; diphtheria, 20; small-pox, 101.

The slaughter-houses of the City are reported as being in good sanitary condition. Capt. YULE, of the Sanitary Company of Police, reports the following as the number of pounds of meat, fish, &c., seized and confiscated as unfit for human food: Cattle, 2; sheep, 2; hogs, 5; veal (carcass,) 6; veal (bob,) 12; veal (cut,) 285 pounds; mutton, 30; poultry, 398; beef (cut,) 435; game (pigeons,) 401; corned beef, 60; bolognas, 150; fish, 3,375.

The Board then adjourned.

THE COTTON MERCHANTS.

Meeting Yesterday—Uniform Rates of Commissions Adopted—Brokers' Contracts.

A meeting of the cotton commission merchants was held yesterday at the old rooms of the Cotton Exchange on Pearl-street, in accordance with a call issued recently, for the purpose of considering the propriety of adopting a uniform rate of commissions, to be charged on the purchase and sale of cotton "futures," (contracts for delivery at a future time,) and other matters affecting the interests of the cotton merchants. The following merchants signed the call: Norton, Slaughter & Co., Smith, Woodward & Stillman, Fielding, Gwynn & Co., Fenner, Bennett & Bowman, Inmann, Swann & Co., Ware, Murphy & Co., Schawn Brothers, J. H. Brower, D. H. Baldwin.

Mr. S. D. HARRISON, President of the Cotton Exchange was called to the chair, and Mr. ROBERT TANNAHILL was made Secretary. After the call had been read, Mr. FIELDING introduced a resolution stating that it was the sense of the meeting that the minimum rate of commission charged on contracts for future delivery shall be one and a half per cent. where no cotton is received. As in stock and gold transactions, cotton is frequently bought and sold through brokers and commission merchants, without there being any actual transfer of the cotton itself. Where there is such transfer the commissions and brokers' charges are higher. After some debate the resolution was carried, as was also an amendment introduced by Mr. FENNER, inserting the words "without rebate," so as to prevent the rule being violated by any return of the money afterward.

Mr. HOLLIS moved that a committee of five be appointed to confer with the cotton merchants generally, (the meeting not having been as largely attended as was desired,) to state to them the action taken by the meeting, and embody their views in a report to be presented at a future meeting, to be called by the Chair. The Chairman appointed the following, to which he was added on a subsequent motion: Messrs. Hollis, Tannahill, Slaughter, Fenner and Murphy.

Mr. FIELDING moved that hereafter, on all transfers and extensions of future contracts to a later period for delivery, the minimum commission be one per cent. Other rates were suggested as substitutes, but, finally, on motion of Mr. INMANN, it was resolved that the rate be three-quarters of one per cent.

Of late, certain cotton brokers have been carrying on a commission business also, and frequently their own names have been given as the principals to the transactions, instead of being the mere agents, thereby reaping the charges of both brokers and commission merchants. This has caused some slight dissatisfaction among the merchants, and at the meeting yesterday, Mr. BRYCE moved that no brokers' contracts be hereafter accepted, but the motion was lost by a vote of 11 to 15, there being a desire to avoid trouble with the brokers. It is proper to state that the brokers make the same charges against the merchants, namely, that they go into the Exchange and do their own brokerage business, taking business out of the brokers' hands.

THE WALL-STREET ROBBERY.

Further Particulars of the Absconding Broker—The Victims—How it Was Done.

The facts of the robbery in Wall-street, announced in yesterday's TIMES, seem to be as follows:

EDWARD P. SELMSER and EDWARD P. MCILVAINE, for about six months past, have been carrying on business as stock brokers, under the firm name of SELMSER & Co., at No. 11 Broad-street, although neither of the partners owned a membership in the Stock Exchange, and all their transactions, consequently, had to be made through other brokers belonging to the Exchange. As to their antecedents, nothing objectionable, according to the Wall-street code, seems to be known. Both have been in business in the street for several years, and the alleged thief, MCILVAINE, has hitherto borne as good a reputation as his partner, who appears to be blameless in the matter. For three months past Mr. SELMSER, the senior partner, has been confined to his residence, which is in one of the suburban towns, and he claims to have been entirely ignorant of the manner in which his partner conducted their business, and as much surprised at his crime as any one else. It is known that for three or four weeks past MCILVAINE has met with heavy losses on stock speculations; hence the robbery.

At 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, between 300 and 400 shares of stock, 100 of which were New-York Central, were delivered at SELMSER & Co.'s office by different brokers, who had purchased them on MCILVAINE'S order. In payment MCILVAINE gave checks on the Bank of the Republic, where the firm account was kept, and the messengers who had brought the stock shares went to the bank to get the checks certified, but as the account had previously been overdrawn, indorsement was refused. Meanwhile MCILVAINE hurriedly made the most of his time, knowing that his worthless paper would soon be coming back. He immediately transferred the stocks to other brokers, to whom they had before been sold, receiving in payment good checks, which he cashed. Of two of the checks, one was of VERNHAM & HOY, for $9,700, and one of G. ALLEYS, for $8,387. The defaulter then went to the banking-house of MARTIN & RUNYON, at No. 40 Wall-street, and bought $8,000 in gold, saying that he wanted it for a customer, giving in payment a check drawn by CAMMANN & Co., one of those he had just received. He hurriedly snatched the gold and $1,600 more belonging to another buyer, and left before the "mistake" was discovered. When the cashier found it out, a clerk was sent to MCILVAINE'S office, supposing the money had really been taken by mistake. When MCILVAINE could not be found his crime was suspected, the proofs of which soon came pouring in from the dishonored checks. The detectives were informed, and started in quest of the fugitive, but are unsuccessful thus far. MCILVAINE went to his home, at No. 417 Grand-avenue, Brooklyn, directly from MARTIN & RUNYON'S, it is supposed. He staid about an hour, and went away, taking no baggage, and without saying where he was going or when he would return, since which time he has not been seen.

The amount of the robbery is estimated at from $39,000 to $40,000, and the firms thus far known to be losers are as follows, no one in any large amount: JOSLYN, BACH & Co., Nos. 5 and 7 New-street; MARTIN & RUNYON, No. 40 Wall-street; CAMMANN & Co., No. 8 Wall-street; GERTON & BUSSING, No. 38 Wall-street, and the Bank of the Republic. Customers of the firm who had margins on deposit lose about $10,000.

Mr. SELMSER arrived in the City yesterday morning, and sent the following notice to the Stock Exchange, which was read by the President:

NEW-YORK, May 22.

Please notify the Board that all parties having contracts with this house will please close out the same at the present market rates, publicly or privately, at their own option, and send me a report of the purchases or sales.

E. P. SELMSER.

The bankers and brokers were warned not to negotiate any certified checks drawn to the order of SELMSER & Co. on a certificate for one hundred shares of New-York Central Stock, No. 7,730, the transfer of which has been stopped.

Legislative Investigation of the Validity of Corporation Contracts.

A Committee appointed by the Legislature to investigate the validity of Corporation contracts have been for several days at work at the Everett House. The council are Ex-Judge SUTHERLAND and Messrs. DE VOORST and JACQUES. No reporters have as yet been admitted to the conferences. A number of contractors and witnesses have been examined. Deputy Controller STORRS was under examination last evening. The fraudulent nature of many of these contracts has been exposed in the TIMES. The persons to whom they were awarded were principally friends and creatures of the Ring, who were in many instances given contracts with the understanding that they were to make a division of the extravagant profits arising from them with those through whose influence they were obtained. Among these contracts were those by which sand and gravel were supplied to the parks, the street-cleaning contract, LEWIS BAKER'S contract with the Bureau of Roads, and who seems to have delivered an impossible number of loads of sand and stone to be used in road-making; the sewer contracts, one at least of which was held in the name of a man who never did a day's work of supervision over sewer repairing or cleaning, and others which have been often referred to in these columns.

THE GORDON CASE.

Failure of the Defendant to Appear—An Unsuccessful Search for Him Last Night.

GORDON GORDON, one of the litigants in the Gordon-Gould case, was to have been present for examination in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, but did not make his appearance. His counsel, Mr. STRAHAM, who appeared in his behalf, claimed that a similar motion was before Judge BRADY, and that at the last day of adjournment the order fell to the ground.

Judge LEONARD, on motion of GOULD'S counsel, granted an attachment against GORDON, returnable forthwith, and also an order to show cause this morning why his (GORDON'S) complaint should not be stricken out. Up to the hour of adjournment GORDON had not been brought into Court.

After the adjournment of the Special Term of the Supreme Court yesterday an order of arrest for Mr. GORDON GORDON, issued by Judge LEONARD, was handed to the Sheriff, and the duty of hunting him up devolved upon Mr. JUDSON. The attachment was issued on account of GORDON'S failure to appear for examination on the 20th instant, and was granted upon motion of JAY GOULD'S attorneys. It commands the Sheriff to attach GORDON and bring him before the Justices of the Supreme Court sitting in Chambers, to answer for his misconduct in not obeying the summons of the Court. If he fails to appear today, his complaint will be stricken out and he will be punished, if found, for contempt of Court.

Strenuous efforts were made to find him last night, but they were unsuccessful. It was ascertained at the Metropolitan Hotel that GORDON had left the house on Tuesday last, the day after he was served with the Court summons, and gave no intimation of his destination. Instead of employing the regular hotel conveyances, an express wagon specially engaged by him, drove up to the door, and his baggage was thus removed. He was asked by the hotel people where his letters should be sent, but he declined to give any information on the point.

Mr. JUDSON JARVIS, with his assistants, visited the Westminster Hotel, Clarendon Hotel and Everett House, where their man, it was confidently asserted, was stopping, by those who professed to know. Although the proprietors and clerks, whom, it was feared, might have been cautioned to be silent, were questioned by persons of whom they could have no suspicion, their reply to all inquiries was that there was no such person in the house. Mr. JARNIS also endeavored to find Mr. STRAHAN, counsel for GORDON, who was expected by him to be present at a meeting in Fourth-avenue. The meeting was not held, however, and the baffled official, after searching vainly until nearly midnight, was obliged to abandon the chase. Friends of GORDON assert that he is only keeping out of the way at present for reasons of his own. He will appear, it is said, in good time, and if it is absolutely necessary for him to come into Court today, he will be promptly on hand. The Sheriff's officers gave it as their impression, yesterday, that he had gone to Europe and left GOULD master of the field.

SECOND

GRAND GIFT CONCERT

IN AID OF THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY,

AT LOUISVILLE, KY.

By authority in the act of the Legislature incorporating the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, the Trustees will give their

SECOND GRAND GIFT CONCERT

Saturday, Sept. 28, 1872.

This magnificent hall, known as Weisiger Hall, is the largest, most centrally located, and best arranged for large and fashionable audiences of any in Louisville, and is fitted up in superb style. The building has a front of 165 feet on 4th-st., by a depth of 200 feet, four stories in height, and was recently purchased for the Public Library at a cost of $210,000. Three large rooms are now fitted up for a library, and contain about 20,000 volumes and a museum of 100,000 specimens, now open and free to the gratuitous use and enjoyment of all citizens of every State in the Union. It is the purpose of the Trustees, by the GRAND GIFT CONCERT now announced, to raise the money with which to pay the balance of the purchase money due upon the Public Library building, to enlarge the library, and so to endow the institution as to make it self-sustaining and forever beyond the necessity of calling upon any individual who uses the books for the contribution of a single cent toward its support.

100,000 TICKETS OF ADMISSION will be issued at $10 each; half tickets $5; quarter tickets $2 50; 11 whole tickets for $100; 28 for $250; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5,000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

Tickets will be sent, when requested, by registered letter. The money for them may be sent by Adams Express Company and its connections, Post-office money order, registered letter, or bank draft.

The holder of each ticket, or fraction of a ticket, (a half, or a quarter,) is entitled to admission to the concert, and to the gift awarded to it. During the concert the sum of $500,000 in Currency

will be given to the holders of tickets by distribution by lot of ONE THOUSAND GIFTS, as follows:

Total 1,000 Gifts, all Cash...$500,000

This Concert, like the first of the 16th of December last, (which was so decidedly successful, and at which the first grand gift was paid to Mr. John B. Duff, of Memphis, Tenn.,) is for the benefit of the

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Farmers' and Drovers' Bank is Treasurer, and the corporators and supervisors are all representative men, and are among the most respectable and distinguished citizens of the State.

Should any tickets be left unsold on the day of the drawing, they will be destroyed, and the one thousand gifts offered will all be drawn and paid; but diminished in value in proportion to the percentage of unsold tickets. For instance, if only three-fourths of the tickets are sold, the capital gift will be reduced to $75,000, and all the others in proportion.

The Hon. THOS. E. BRAMLETTE, late Governor of Kentucky, has consented to represent the Trustees in the management of this second Grand Gift Concert, and with his assistance the Trustees will see that the sale of tickets is deposited with the Treasurer, that the drawing is fairly conducted and the gifts justly awarded and promptly paid.

The drawing will take place in public, in full view of the audience, and under the immediate supervision and direction of the officers and Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky and the following-named eminent and disinterested citizens, who have consented to be present and see that all is fairly done:

Hon. M. R. HARDIN, Judge Court Appeals, Ky.
